Albert Stern Is Found Strangled

Body of Suspected "Trigger Man" in Schultz Gang Killings Discovered in Gas-Filled Newark Rooming House.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 — (AP)—Al Stern, who police theorized may have been a "trigger man" in the massacre of Dutch Schultz and three of his mobsters, was found dead today—beyond the power of aid officials in their attempts to clarify New York's latest outbreak of underworld warfare.

A necktie tightly knotted about his throat, his body was found in a gas-filled room of a Newark rooming house.

Chief Medical Examiner Harrison S. Martland said that Stern, alias Stein, described by police as a wanton killer and paid assassin of the Vincent Coll type, had committed suicide.

A note found near the body, scrawled in pencil, read:

"Darling—This is goodbye, life is not worth while without you. One who loves you more than life itself. Please take it as I would want you to. Remember the lilacks—AL."

The find complicated the investigation which New York and New Jersey police are pressing frantically.

Women, police said they had learned, played a greater part in the background than was suspected at first.

Two women — Mrs. Frances Flegenheimer, common law wife of the slain Schultz, whose real name was Arthur Flegenheimer, and a vaguely identified "Mommy," described as possibly another Mrs. Schultz—were the only ones so far linked with the case.

Deputy Chief John Haller, in charge of the Newark investigation, said:

Seek Another "Mrs. Schultz."

"We will find women playing larger parts in this drama than we guess now, and I think we'll find another Mrs. Schultz in the picture soon."

In his dying delirium Schultz called for "Helen," "Ethel," "Winifred" and "Frances."

Mrs. Flegenheimer was held under $10,000 bail as a material witness.

A government investigator disclosed that Schultz knew two weeks ago he was in danger, and

F.W. Andersen Selected As Comptroller

Normal Board Member Votes For Self; Has Cochran Approval

With great secrecy, behind the locked doors of its meeting room at the capitol, the state normal board Saturday morning by split vote elected one of its own members, Fred W. Anderson of Cozad, to the new position of comptroller for the four state teachers' colleges. Its action was reported in writing to Governor Cochran, who gave his formal approval, as required by the terms of the legislative appropriation in order to make appointment valid.

In order to accomplish his election to the post which pays $250 per month, Mr. Anderson voted for himself. Three other members of the board, Messrs. E. D. Crites, Ed L. Ferneau, and Fred S. Knapp, gave him their votes, which with his own constituted a bare majority.

Two For Arnot.

The choice was reached on the first balllot taken. President John F. Rohn and State Supt. Charles W. Taylor, ex officio members of the board, voted for Charles Arnot of Scribner, formerly a well known educator and later engaged in the banking business for a number of years. One vote for George Adams of Lincoln, who recently has been employed in special work at Hastings and Red Cloud, was cast by Member Frank J. Munday.

Andersen was an applicant for the comptrollership, but had not been considered very seriously by his fellow members on two previous occasions, when they chose other men for the job, only to have the selections disapproved by Governor Cochran.

Heretofore Andersen has been

HOUSE CONTEST ON CUSHING'S SEAT DEVELOPS

Davis Nominated But Hardenbrook Will Seek Position

Cochran Gives Names Of Other Appointments To Legislature

FEW CHANGES SUGGESTED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—Milton C. Murphy, assistant Nebraska attorney general, said early this afternoon no serious difficulties apparently stood in the way of proposed state legislation for co-operation with the federal social security act.

Numerous changes were suggested by federal officials, he said, in the drafts of proposed bills brought here. He said, however, they all appeared to be changes which could be made in a form acceptable to the Nebraska legislature and to the state supreme court.

Nebraska's house of representatives when it convenes in special session Monday will be called on to decide a contest for one of its seats.

Governor R. L. Cochran Saturday said two men seek the place made vacant by the accidental death of State Repsentative Marion L. Cushing (R) of Ord, last summer. The candidates are Clarence M. Davis of Ord and Bert M. Hardenbrook of Ord, both republicans. Davis was recommended on a close vote by county committees of the district for the place but Hardenbrook filed notice that he will contest for the place.

Sending Both Names.

Cochran said he would send both names to Speaker W. H.

CORN-HOG PLAN FACES TEST TODAY

Doubt Over Outcome Of Farm Referendum To Continue Control

PRICE UPSET SEEN

Increased Hog Production Will Be Sought Next Year, AAA Says

EXPECTS AAA TO CARRY

Ballots of Lancaster county farmers participating in the referendum were expected to total approximately 2,000, Frank Walker, county horn-hog chairman said Saturday. He said about two-thirds of the farmers in the county are voting and added that he thought a "substantial majority" of the votes would favor continuance of the program.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26—(AP)—Early scattered returns from the corn-hog referendum today showed Missouri and Kansas farmers heavily in favor of continuing the control program.

The vote in three Missouri and two Kansas counties totaled 325 for and 28 against.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—The New Deal's most far-flung agricultural control program underwent a ballot box test today as farmers in 48 states voted in a crucial corn-hog referendum.

The question confronting the producers as they went to 2,000 polling places was this:

"Do you favor a corn-hog adjustment program to follow the 1935 program which expires November 30, 1935?"

The polls, which opened at 8 a. m., will close at 10 p. m.

While expressing hope that a program would be approved, AAA officials said there was serious doubt about the outcome.

They believed the total vote would be larger than the 579,716 farmers who ballotted on a similar question in October, 1934. In that referendum, 389,139 voters approved a program, and 190,577 opposed.

Hog Increase Planned.

The 1935 program, now in effect, called for a 10 to 30 per cent cut in corn acreage, and a 10 per cent slash in hog production, but AAA officials said that because of the drouth few farmers could produce as much as 90 per cent of their base hog production.

An increase of from 25 to 30 per cent in hog production will be sought for next year, AAA officials have said, but they

Rural Electric Groups Organize At Meeting Here

Loup District Proffers Tentative List Of Power Rates

Granted a first glimpse of tentative power rates to be offered by the big Loup River Public Power district, representatives of the state's rural electrification districts moved swiftly to consolidate themselves into a permanent organization at a meeting in the Cornhusker hotel Saturday.

The rate structure revealed by D. J. DeBoer, Loup district engineer, ranged from 6.25 mills to 1.3 cents per kilowat hour, with an estimated price of 6 mills to one cent being quoted for the Eastern Nebraska rural electrification district. DeBoer said this district alone probably would use 5,000,000 kwh annually.

Delivery Rates.

Other rates he quoted, based on delivery to the towns, were:

Central City—9 mills for an estimated consumption of 1,324,000 kilowat hours annually.

Polk—1.3 cents on a load of 199,000 kilowatt hours.

Seward, 8 mills maximum for 1,620,000 kilowat hours.

Beatrice, 7.3 mills for 2,329,000 kilowat hours.

Fairbury—6.25 mills on 4,946,000 kilowatt hours.

Crete—8.5 mills on 1,377,000.

The prospect of even lower rates in the future was held before the district representatives as engineers explained prices for the "juice" would eventually be cut to actual cost of production, one mill, when the Loup district's debt is liquidated.

League Sanctions Are Denounced By Premier Mussolini

ROME, Oct. 26—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today denounced in no uncertain terms the League of Nations' program of sanctions against Italy and warned that the Italian people would fight against them.

"Those who are ready to consummate against us the most odious of injustices will perceive that the Italian people is capable of heroisms like those of the soldiers who avenged Aduwa with glory and carried civilization to the soil of Africa."

Addressing his annual message to the black shirts in salute to the fourteenth year of fascism, Il Duce continued:

"This is an epoch in which one must feel the pride of living and of fighting. This is an epoch in which a people measures upon a base of hostile forces its capacity of resistance and victory."

Pension Meeting Asks Roosevelt To 'Listen In'

Townsend Followers Will Be Urged To Send In 10 Cents A Month

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Cheering, hymn-singing delegates to Dr. Francis E. Townsend's first national convention passed a resolution today inviting President Roosevelt to "listen in" on their final session Sunday.

Former State Senator Frank A. Buckle of Santa Monica, Cal., chairman of the Townsend convention, said the group's leaders would not attempt to put out an "approved list" of congressional candidates, but would order the followers to back congressmen of any party who would endorse the pension plan.

Dr. Townsend's proposal, as explained at the convention, would levy a "transaction tax" on all commercial activity, use the money to pay $200 a month to all citizens past 60, and thus create "forced circulation" of money, making jobs, the advocates claim as the indirect result of this "new spending era."

Townsend's followers—estimated by the doctor's assistants to range from 6 to 27 millions—will be asked to pay 10 cents a month to push the pension plan for adoption, Gilmour Young, an organizer, disclosed.

FIND BRYAN RECALL LISTS TO BE SHORT

Berg's Check Reveals Fewer Signatures Than Claimed

ONE WITHDRAWAL

Signatures Are Being Studied By Laughlin For Genuineness

Recall election petitions filed with the city clerk late Friday against Mayor C. W. Bryan, were found Saturday morning to be 14 names short of the number required to make them valid in the event they were all legal signatures. After a "check and a recheck," Clerk Berg said there are only 5,833 names, whereas the petitions were supposed to have 5,850 and 5,846 are required.

The number of signatures was further reduced during the morning by the first withdrawal, George Rockel, 240 F street. While Clerk Berg was making his check, outside of the city hall a "backfire" against the recall was being launched. Business men were heading the move along with ministers and prominent professional men. Among them were Dr. B. F. Bailey, R. E. Campbell, Dr. Walter Aitken, S. A. Sanderson, and E. B. Stephenson.

Inside the city hall action looking to the genuineness of signatures was taken by City Attorney Loren Laughlin. Evidence of this is seen in the following statement at noon, by Ward Betzer, whose name is in the list:

"It is my understanding that my name appears on the recall petition against Mayor C. W. Bryan. I did not sign this petition and if my name does appear on said petition, it is without my authorization or knowledge."

"The evidence on these petitions is so gross," City Attorney Laughlin declared, that he has requested the city clerk to make a separate list of names questioned that might be presented to the proper authorities for prosecution under the corrupt practices act.

Besides the name of Mr. Betzer the doubtful names include the same person signing for man and wife, and many names not listed in either the telephone or city di-

23,000 Watch Big Six Contest Here

17 Bands Add Color—Dads in Honor Role—Game Results Will Have Much to Do With Conference Title.

By GREGG M'BRIDE.

Nebraska and Oklahoma, leaders in the Big Six circle, met at Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon in a game figured to go a long way toward deciding the conference football championship. The Sooners and Cornhuskers each carried into the contest records clear of defeat although the Scarlet sheet was marred by a scoreless tie at Kansas State last week.

A crowd of more than 23,000—the largest attendance at a Nebraska-Oklahoma game in Lincoln — flocked to the stadium. The throng included a sprinkling of student fathers in the city for Dad's day, a good sized group of school teachers just finished with a district convention and four to five thousand youngsters who filled the Knothole section.

Seventeen Organizations.

A half hour before game-time, Band day brought the appearance of seventeen musical organizations who paraded to the stadium and played a short concert at the north end of the field. Selections included the national anthem and two Sousa marches, "University of Nebraska March" and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Bands in the line of march were University of Nebraska cadet band, Burlington band of Lincoln, Pawnee City high, Ohiowa, Malmo Community, Lincoln high, Beatrice high, Falls City high, Cook, Deweese high, Sutton high, Grand Island high, Clark's band of Wilber, Dwight high, Fairbury high, Havelock high and Tecumseh.

Following the concert the bands marched to a special section in the west stadium.

Breeden hit the Nebraska left tackle for one yard. Hewes punted to Lanoue who fumbled but returned 14 yards to the Oklahoma 31-yard line. On a reverse play, Cardwell lost two yards. McDannald stopped him. On the next play, Oklahoma was off side and drew a five-yard penalty which moved the Huskers up to the Oklahoma 28-yard line.

Sooners Take Ball.

Francis lost a yard at center. Francis plunged for four yards, putting the ball on the Sooner 25-yard stripe with four to go. A forward pass by Francis was incompleted in the end zone for a touchback and the Sooners took the ball on its own 20-yard-line. Corbett broke up the pass.

Hewes hit the Nebraska right tackle for two yards. Hewes failed to gain at the Nebraska left guard.

Howell made no return of Hewes' punt and it was Nebraska's ball on the Oklahoma 48-yard line. Francis failed to gain on a spinner. McDonald made a one-hand catch of a short pass from Francis for a five-yard gain. Lanoue broke through the Sooner's left side for eight yards and a first down on the Oklahoma 35-yard line.

Bauer Goes In.

Cardwell ran the Oklahoma right end for six yards. Bauer replaced Howell in the Nebraska backfield at quarter. Bauer shot a long forward pass to Cardwell which was good for 33 yards and a first down on the Oklahoma two-yard line.

Francis carried the ball to the six-inch line. Francis failed to gain at center on the next play. Cardwell swept the Oklahoma right end for a touchdown on the third play, scoring in the corner of the field. There were nine minutes played in the first quarter.

Francis missed the kick for the extra point.

Score: Nebraska, 6; Oklahoma, 0.

Breeden kicked off 60 yards to Bauer who tossed a backward pass to Cardwell and Cardwell ran 82 yards before he was finally brought down on the Oklahoma 8-yard line. It was a beautiful weaving run, in which Cardwell started from the left sideline and reversed his field before he was brought down several yards from the east sidelines. Oklahoma took out time.

Cardwell hit the right end of the Oklahoma line for a yard. Bauer's pass was intercepted by Ball, and it went as a touchback, Oklahoma scrimmaging from its 20-yard line.

Pass Incomplete.

Corbett failed to gain at center. Hewes made three yards over the Nebraska right tackle. Lanoue chased back Hewes' punt 10 yards to the Nebraska 49-yard lin. Francis hit th Oklahoma right guard for three yards. Bauer's long forward pass was incomplete. Bauer's long pass to Scherer also was incomplete. Francis punted out of bounds and the ball was blocked by Wheeler, the ball rolling out of bounds on the Nebraska 22-yard line.

Douglas replaced Bauer in the Husker backfield. A forward pass by Breeden was broken up by Cardwell. Corbett tried the left side of the Nebraska line and Douglas and Francis stopped him for a two-yard loss. A forward pass, Breeden to Hewes, was incomplete. A backward pass, Breeden to Corbett, lost ground, when Corbett slipped and Nebraska took the ball on downs on the Huskers' 29-yard line. Turner replaced Douglas in the Nebraska backfield.

Hopes For An Early End Of War Dimmed

London Reports Stalemate In Italo-Ethiopia Peace Moves

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Authoritative sources said today that a stalemate had been reached in efforts to end the Italo-Ethiopian war and that there were no hopes for an early cessation of hostilities.

At the same time, the treasury department ordered that Great Britain's financial sanctions against Italy be placed in operation next Tuesday.

The official treasury explanation said financial sanctions were being applied under Article III of the league covenant and refers to loans and credits to or for the benefit of "1. The government of any Italian territory; 2, any person (not being a body corporate) of whatever nationality resident in such territ y; 3. any person body corporate incorporated under the law of any such territory."

Sanctions Explained.

The treasury department explained that Italian nationals resident outside Italian territory are included under the provisions, but the branches in Italian territory of corporations incorporated in other countries are excluded.

Informed sources said that the progress of the peace negotiations of Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Laval of France had virtually broken down and that there was little hope for them unless the Italians came forward with new proposals which will be acceptable to the League of Nations and Ethiopia.

TILLEY AGAIN PUTS LIMITS ON TESTIMONY

George Johnson, Chief Tri-County Engineer, Is Cross-examined

Painstaking cross-examination of George E. Johnson, chief engineer of the Tri-County power and irrigation district marked the Saturday morning session of its water rights hearing as counsel for objectors delved for weak spots in his testimony on engineering plans for the project, amount of water in the river available for it, and details of the plan of operation.

As the hearing opened, State Engineer A. C. Tilley, in an effort to shorten the hearing, now in its fourteenth day, again ruled out testimony on the size of the Tri-County's proposed Keystone dam, and the project's proposed plan of financing. He held that such testimony was not pertinent to the isue of water rights.

Made Ruling Earlier.

The same ruling was made days ago, but counsel for the objectors, comprising the Sutherland project and others now holding rights in the Platte valley, have persistenly sought to attack the feasibility of the project by this line of questioning of Johnson.

Tilley ruled, however, that testimony relative to the capacity of the Keystone reservoir is relevant and would be admitted. He said that he could "conceivably see that testimony relative to the actual capacity of a reservoir at Keystone, whether it will hold a million, a million and a half or two million acre-feet might be relevant to the issue of public welfare."

He recessed the hearing at noon to 10 o'clock Monday morning, and planned to resume the hearings in the Supreme court commission room with the advent of the special session next week. The hearings have been held first in the house chamber and lately in the senate chamber and lately in of Johnson was concluded and he was excused as the session was recessed.

Rural Electric Groups Organize at Meeting

definite rate structure on which to build their plans for "electrifying the entire state," the various representatives approved plans for making their loose association permanent. Dubbed the Nebraska Rural Electrification association in the informal discussions, the organization will meet at the call of C. A. Sorensen, former attorney general and chairman of the Saturday meeting, who is the legal representative for many of the districts.

The first step of the new group was to authorize district attorneys and engineers to meet with an engineer from the Loup Power district in an effort to draw up uniform contracts and affect standardization of equipment. The committee will meet soon, it was indicated, but no date was set.

Surveying their immediate problem of obtaining power until it is available from the PWA-sponsored hydroelectric districts, the electrification delegates agreed that only temporary contracts to get electricity from municipal plants or private companies should be approved.

"Frankly, I'm interested in seeing this entire state become 100 per cent public ownership one of these days," Sorensen declared, "but of course, temporarily, I suppose, the rural districts are obligated to buy their power as cheaply as possible for the time being."

In his sales campaign for the rural districts, DeBoer revealed the Loup river power district hopes to sell 94,000,000 kilowats annually to the Nebraska Power Co. of Omaha. He gave no estimate of prospective sales to the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., but said most of the Loup power, aside from sales to these two utilities, would be sold to public agencies.

Lincoln Angle.

How Lincoln's municipal plant would be affected by the cheap public power was partially answered as Harold Kramer, general manager of the Loup district, predicted the plant would be at little disadvantage despite the fact it will have to pay a higher rate than the Iowa-Nebraska.

The city plant, a much smaller user than the big company, would have the offsetting factor, he pointed out, of being tax-free.

Although the eventual one-mill cost was quoted for Loup power, representatives of the Columbus project pointed out it might be a number of years before that figure was reached. Three-fourths of the price which the district will have to charge, they explained, must go to retiring the district's principal debt, and interest on it.

Several of the rural district representatives said they believed agreements could be "very easily worked out" to obtain power temporarily from the municipalities.

The new association gave its definite approval to the policy of providing lines to the doors of farmer-users, no matter how far the consumers may live from the main line.

Crowd Enjoys Shawn Dance Program Here

Whirling and twisting to the measured strains of rhythmic melodies, Ted Shawn and his ensemble of eight men dancers scored a distinct success Friday night at the university coliseum, before an audience of several thousand persons.

The novelty of an all male company performing the rhythmic dances with an easy grace and control seemed to grasp the imagination of the audience which grew more appreciative as the program progressed. The abrupt exits and cessation of music served to keep interest from lagging through the more intricate dances.

Shawn gave an awe-inspiring performance in "The Hound of Heaven," inspired by Francis Thompson's mystic poem, but received the greatest ovation in a spirited Spanish Flamenco dance.

Liked Pioneers Dance."

Most popular with the audience was the part depicting play motif of folk themes, the "Pioneers dance" standing out especially. Also well received was the labor symphony featuring the entire ensemble, which presented the beauty discovered in labor in the fields, forests, and the sea. The final movement depicting mechanized labor was performed with the mechanical precision and the interpretation of a dynamo by the ensemble.

The original compositions of Accompanist Jess Meeker for three of the dances were masterpieces of rhythm and feeling.

Bolivia Protests

GENEVA, Oct. 26—(AP)—Bolivia protested against Paraguay's treatment of war prisoners in such scathing terms today that Geneva received the distinct impression all problems of the Chaco war are not liquidated.

Thousands of Bolivian prisoners of war are being held in bondage by Paraguay, Bolivia's note to the League of Nations declared.

The communication, which momentarily diverted attention from the Italo-Ethiopian war, said the prisoner problem, which the Buenos Aires peace conference was unable to solve, constitutes a "grave detriment to thousands of unfortunate men."

LIQUOR BOARD RECORDS ARE RULED PUBLIC

Chappell Permits State Commission To Fix Inspection Hours

Reports of liquor and beer dealers submitted monthly to the state liquor commission were ruled public records Saturday by District Judge Chappell and the commission was ordered to allow Lee W. Harris to inspect them free of charge.

The ruling was made on Harris' mandamus action to force the liquor commission to allow him to inspect and copy records for resale. The commission maintained the reports from dealers were confidential and not public records and that Harris had made a nuisance of himself in demanding to see records when they were needed by the commission office.

No Interference.

The court found that Harris "is entitled to examine such reports and all other public records of the commission and make copies thereof subject, however, to such reasonable rules and regulations" as the commission shall impose as to time of inspection. Inspection of the records, the court declared, should not be allowed to interfere with the work commission office.

Judge Chappell said his decision was not intended to mean that all records of the commission are public records and particularly, not those of liquor inspectors who communicate with the commission regarding liquor violations.

James A. McEachen, member of the commission, said the case will not be appealed. "We were interested in getting a court decision on the question of our records," he said, "to know just what we were to do."

Attorney Frank Boehmer represented Harris and Attorney Robert Florey peresented the commission's case.

Rabbi Ogle Opposes U. S. Olympic Entry

Assails Nazi Germany; Warns Of Result Of Participation

Rabbi J. J. Ogle in a sermon Friday evening at the Temple B'Nai Jeshurun urged that the United States refrain from participation in the Berlin 1936 Olympics because recent developments have made this country's entrance a political choice.

Rabbi Ogle bitterly decried Germany's necessity of assuring police protection for all competing athletes at the Olympics. This practice, he said, will destroy the fundamental theory of sportsmanship which underlies the international games.

Crisply criticizing Avery Brundage for a statement recently made to the effect that absence of U. S. from the Olympics would make American sports an instrument for transplanting old world hatreds to U. S., Rabbi Ogle said:

"It is because I should want to keep American youth free from the Nazi contamination that I should want to cancel their visit to Germany. It is for the sake of preventing old world hatreds from entering U. S. that I would advocate withdrawal. You would send out athletes into that land where sportsmanship has died, where the spirit of amateur sports has been destroyed."

Industry Hits Fastest Pace In Long Time

Production Of New Autos In October Is Largest Since 1929

OTHER BRIGHT SPOTS

Weekly Index Of Industrial Activity At New High For 1935

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—The automobile industry roared down the recovery highway this week, stirring the nation's industrial activity to the fastest pace for this time of year in a long period.

The biggest production of new automobiles for October since 1929 lifted the Associated Press weekly index of industrial activity to a new high for 1935.

In fact, it touched the highest level for the recovery with the exception of a brief period in July, 1933, when factories accelerated production to a frantic pace in an effort to "beat" the oncoming NRA regulations and increased costs.

Steel production did almost as well. The American Iron and Steel institute estimated production for the week at 51.8 per cent of capacity, which approximated the output at this time in 1930. The previous week it was 50.4, and a year ago 22.8.

Electric Power Recedes.

Statistics appearing for the previous week showed a slight recession in electric power production, after recording an all-time high in the second week of October.

Freight car loadings dipped a trifle in the preceding seven-day period after reaching a new high since Autumn, 1931. This was regarded as due in part to unseasonably warm weather over much of the country.

The exceptional rate of industrial production at this time reflects in considerable measure the introduction earlier than usual of new automobile models, with the New York automobile show opening this year a week from tomorrow, instead of early January. Whether this will cut into the gains expected later on, under previous production schedules, remains to be seen.

The index of industrial activity, based on 1929-30 as 100, was placed today at 81.5, compared with 77 the previous week, and 62.5 a year ago. The previous high for the year was 77.3, registered last February.

The index with seasonally adjusted indices for its six component factors, follows:

	This Week	Prev. Week	Year Ago
xComposite index	81.5	77.0	62.5
xAutomobile production	106.5	73.4	40.6
Steel mill activity	69.5	67.6	30.6
Cotton mfg. activity	95.0	93.4	90.7
Electric power prod.	101.2	101.6	93.9
Residential building	43.5	42.5	16.4
Total car loadings	68.6	69.1	59.9

x—New high 1935.

In securities markets during the week ended yesterday, a new high level since 1931 was established by 60 stocks in the Associated Press average.

They gained a total of $2.20 to bring the average price to $152.50. Thirty industrial shares rose $2.50 to an average of $72.20, and 15 utilities increased $2.80 to $40.70. Fifteen railroad issues added $1.10 for a total average price of $25.10.

Car Thief Eludes Officers By Taking To The Cornfields

Police officers were still searching Saturday for a car thief who Friday afternoon evaded a "posse" of four Lincoln police officers, two county deputies, and four other persons in a cornfield on the R. H. Anderson farm six miles east of Havelock.

The thief, a man of 25 thought to be a transient, early Friday afternoon stole an automobile belonging to Paul Feistner, 310 South Twenty-eighth street from Thirteenth and Q streets. Shortly after he drove into a filling station at Twenty-ninth and O streets, had the car filled with gas and oil by Feistner's son, Gay, and Bill Kierstead, of 301 South Twenty-eighth street.

Driving off without paying, coupled with Gay's recognition of his father's car started a prolonged chase which ended up in cornfields east of Lincoln after the thief abandoned the car. Officers had given up the chase and were returning to Lincoln when a tip sent them back to the Anderson farm. There they saw the young man, bundle under his arm, hide behind trees bordering the west side of a cornfield.

Officer Homer Greer fired three shots after the youth had failed to stop when ordered. That was the last seen of the elusive young man. Greer was aided by Deputy County Sheriff James Davis, his brother Bob Davis, and a newspaperman. A call for help to comb the cornfield brought Detectives Gene Masters, Richard Bennett, George Myers, and Capt. Paul Shively of the police department. Two other newspapermen were with them. Darkness settled on the manhunt after three hours. Farmers were asked to watch for the young man.

North Platte Child Suffocates In Rumble Seat Of Automobile

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 26—(AP)—Robert Levon James, 3, son of Mrs. Clara James of North Platte, was suffocated in the rumble seat in the family automobile Thursday night.

The child was found dead when the group arrived in North Platte. He appeared well when his mother and relatives started from Columbus, but two other persons riding in the rumble seat noticed him slide to the floor during the ride. They assumed he was merely sleeping.

Fumes from the exhaust pipe of the car are believed the cause of death.

Bank Payment

Depositors in the suspended Custer State bank of Broken Bow are receiving their final dividend payment of 1.33 per cent, amounting to $1,953, from the state receivership administration. Their total return is 16.33 per cent, or $23,983.

RA SOON TO HELP FAMILIES MOVE OUT OF MARGINAL LAND

Moving families from worn out land and helping them to a new life on good farms will start "as rapidly as possible" in the resettlement administration's land utilization program, W. L. Harter of the farm development unit said as he visited regional RA offices here.

"So far," he explained, "we have given most of our attention to the purchase of land on these projects. But now the emphasis is all on working out the best possible resettlement opportunities to offer these families.

Harter, from the Washington RA offices, explained that no families are compelled to sell land to the government, the entire program being on a voluntary basis with assistance being offered farmers who do decide to move to better areas.

Wichita Man Addresses Ben Franklin Members

R. H. Johnston of Wichita, Kas., addressed the Ben Franklin club members at the Lincoln hotel Friday night on the topic, "Where Is That $10 Profit?"

The speaker presented the ten year record of expenditures in proportion to sales, of ten printing plants in his home city. He pointed out that many printers did not realize the many expenses involved in turning out a job, and as a result were counting false profits.

H. J. Black and Claud M. Gafney, both of Wichita, were also guests at the meeting. Fred C. Marshall presided.

Farmer Suffers Broken Arm Cranking Tractor

BOXER SUSPECTED OF KILLING EIGHT

Held In Murder Of Six And Grilled About Slaying Of Two More

SEATTLE, Oct. 26—(AP)—Solution of two other killings was sought by authorities today as they questioned Leo Hall, pugilist, who is charged with murder in the mass slaying of six persons more than 18 months ago.

Through hours of questioning, Hall has refused to talk about a young woman's story which accused him of killing four men and two women during a robbery at Erland's Point, March 28, 1934.

Hall was grilled about the death of Robert Elliott, a taxicab driver, here July 28, 1933, and the slaying of W. Frank Akin, 43, an investigator at Portland, Ore., November 20, 1933.

Likewise confined in jail here was 27-year-old Mrs. Larry Paulos, whose confession, authorities said, solved the Erland's Point massacre. The woman, who said she accompanied Hall to the Frank Flieder cottage where six persons were slain, was held under "protective arrest" with no charge against her.

Constance Clinchard, Canal Zone, Is Queen Of Farmers' Formal

Amid overalls and ginghams, Miss Constance Cinchard of Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, was crowned queen of the annual Farmers' Formal held Friday evening at the agricultural college. More than 250 couples, a record crowd, attended.

Miss Clinchard, one of six senior girls who filed for the queenship, was elected by couples who attended the frolic. Miss Ruth Henderson of Hardy, second high in the contest, served as Miss Clinchard's attendant. When presented, the queen stepped from a large pumpkin which formed the center of the autumnal decorations.

The event was sponsored by the agricultural extension board with Ogden Riddle serving as general chairman.

PRESIDENT 'NEVER IN BETTER HEALTH'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—Battling with deep sea game fish on his recent cruise took just two and a half pounds off President Roosevelt's weight.

Capt. Ross T. McEntire of the navy medical corps, who was a member of the presidential party, said the president stepped on the scales upon his return and the dial showed 186 pounds. Before the vacation, the chief executive weighed 188½.

Capt. McIntire said 186 was approximately the president's normal weight.

"Yes sir," said the captain, "he never was in better health than he is today."

"Crashers" Crushed

Seven Lincoln youngsters found Friday night that theater crashing is not the best way to see a show. Police were called when the "advance" began, and the boys were carted to headquarters—where they were detained until after all picture shows were over, and were released upon their promise of good behavior.

Hundreds On Haiti Island Are Drowned

Torrential Rains Accompanied Last Week-End Tropical Hurricane

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 26—(AP)—Reports reached here today that hundreds of persons were drowned in the Jeremie and Jacmel regions of the island last week-end in torrential rains which accompanied the Caribbean hurricane. The reports said 96 bodies will have been recovered at Jacmel, where the death toll may reach 1,000.

Communication with the entire southern peninsula has been cut off since Monday, roads are impassable and the news now filtering is carried overland with great difficulty by couriers.

An airplane stopped at the port of Jeremie yesterday afternoon and brought back reports of the floods ravages.

The government is endeavoring to get aid to the stricken area where the scanty reports said thousands were homeless and the crops destroyed.

advertising of liquor and tobacco in publications which go into homes, and against advertising of liquor and tobacco over radio broadcasting stations and country line telephones.

"We wish to express our appreciation to the Nebraska State Journal, the Lincoln Star and oll other newspapers and other publications in the state which have refused liquor advertising, and to hotels, restaurant keepers and druggists who have refused to take out liquor licenses," one of the resolutions said.

The convention favored ratification of the proposed federal child labor amendment, approved federal legislation passed recently which obtained for mothers and children financial help sought for a long time through mothers and infancy bills in congress.

The union's attitude against war was unchanged and an appeal was made to the war department at Washington, to the League of Nations and to peace loving people of all the world to prevent another world war.

Heavy Armament Deplored.

Large and increasing expenditures for military and naval purposes in the face of poverty and want were alleged and deplored. The organization pledged its support to a definite and comprehensive program which is to culminate in the centenary observance of the birth of Frances E. Willard, September 28, 1939.

Legalization of pari-mutuel betting on horse races also drew a protest, the convention expressing a belief such betting is detrimental to the minds of youth and is antagonistic to the welfare of citizens.

Under terms of the will of Elsie Dodd, who died Oct. 22, filed for probate Saturday in County court, the old Michael Wolbach home, 320 South Twenty-seventh street which Miss Dodd inherited two years ago, is left in trust along with $5,000 for the educational fund of Lois Clark, daughter of Miss Dodd's niece.

Miss Dodd was bequeathed $35,000 in 1932 from the estate of Mr. Wolbach and the following year inherited the Wolbach home from his widow, Annie Wolbach. Miss Dodd served as Mrs. Wolbach's companion for more than 50 years. In recent years Miss Clark has made her home with Miss Dodd.

Clifford Clark, brother of Lois, is given $1,000 under the terms of Miss Dodd's will, and Mrs. Mabel Clark, mother of Clifford and Lois, is given $500. T. B. Strain is nominated as executor of the estate and placed in charge of the trust which is to become the property of Lois when she is 25 years old. In addition Miss Clark is to receive all of Miss Dodd's jewelry and house furnishings.

The remainder of the estate, the value of which is not given, is to be divided equally among Miss Dodd's brothers and sisters: John Alexander Dodd and Frank David Dodd of Province, Alberta, Can., Charles of Rock Springs, Wyo.; Hannah P. Jensen, Big Sand, Wyo., Agnes L. Welsh, Ogallala, Mary Ann Hunt, Palmer, Elize Etta Toe of Dannebrog, Martha Louis Jones, St. Paul, and June Jensen of Omaha.

TRANSIENT CAMPS TO BE OPEN UNTIL WORK AVAILABLE

OMAHA, Oct. 26—(AP)—John McPherson, federal transient relief director for Nebraska, today said that the eleven midwest transient directors at a conference in Chicago agreed that the problem of transient relief would become a local problem in the near future.

He added, however, that there was no question of closing the transient camps until the works progress administration could supply jobs for the men now in the camps, and said it was evident the transient program would be a part of the federal relief program as long as necessary.

As soon as the WPA can supply the needed jobs, however, there will undoubtedly be an attempt to liquidate by the federal government, he said.

Miss Margaret Anderson, director of the NERA social service bureau, who also attended the Chicago meeting, said Saturday she expected definite policies on future transient care would be recommended within a few days by a committee appointed at the regional conference.

Groundwork For G.O.P. Campaign In State Laid

War Chest Of $10,000 For Use During The Winter Is Aim

Groundwork, on which leaders of the Nebraska g. o. p. hope to build a political structure for the 1936 campaign to enable them to regain control of the state and win its support for the national ticket of their party, was laid at the conference held in the Lincoln hotel Friday afternoon under auspices of the republican state committee.

Principal action taken was selection of a committee to raise funds to pay off upwards of $1,000 in old indebtedness, temporarily assumed by a group of leading republicans, and to finance activities preliminary to next year's campaign. The prevailing sentiment was that organization work should begin at once.

The financial objective is at least $10,000, for use during the winter. Headquarters will be opened soon in a local hotel.

A meeting of this committee has been called by the chairman for next Tuesday evening, in Lincoln.

Predictions of party victory in 1936, if proper preliminary work is done, were voiced in talks made by these speakers:

Former Governor Sam R. McKelvie, Lincoln; former Congressman Robert G. Simmons, Lincoln; Mrs. Viola Cameron, Omaha, national committeewoman; Mrs. Elsie Diers, Omaha, head of women's division, republican state committee; Francis McDermott, Omaha, treasurer state committee; Robert Smith, Omaha; Hugh Brown, Kearney; Hugh Butler, Omaha, chairman Douglas county committee; Ed Meyers, Broken Bow; Arthur Bowring, Merriman; Harry Spencer, and J. Fire Is Raging Inland Toward Malibu Resort

2,000 Men Continue Desperate Battle To Halt Forest Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26—(AP)—Two thousand weary fighters continued their desperate battle today to halt a forest fire raging inland toward the Malibu lake resort on the crest of Malibu mountain.

Outbreak of smaller conflagrations in spotted areas of Los Angeles county added more worry to forestry forces as the damage of the major fire neared the $10,000,000 mark.

Unofficial estimates placed the total devastated area, ranging from the Ventura county line to the Malibu along the ocean front, and from three to eight miles inland, at 150,000 acres of brush and timber land.

A new fire racing up Triunfo canyon threatened the Ventura county settlement of Triunfo, and 40 workers were sent into the section.

Ten other minor fires were believed under control in Ventura county.

Three times the Malibu fire rolled toward the ocean to threaten destruction to the swank colony at Malibu Beach, and each time it was turned back. The most serious advance was checked yesterday.

Damage of $3,000,000 to the Malibu area was estimated.

Justice Rose Files For Re-Nomination

Dean Of Supreme Court Judges To Again Run In First District

Judge W. B. Rose of Lincoln announced he would be a candidate for re-election to the Supreme court from the first district which comprises Lancaster, Cass, Johnson, Richardson, Nemaha, Otoe and Pawnee counties.

Serving continuously on the tribunal since appointed in 1908 by Governor Sheldon, Rose leads the other members of the court in years of service by 15 years. He was assistant attorney general under three administrations before joining the court.

Rose also is the oldest man on the court. He will be 74 years January 25, four months before Justice E. E. Good of Wahoo reaches that age.

Known to some circles as the "Oliver Wendell Holmes" of the Nebraska judiciary, Rose has been praised by attorneys for liberal interpretations of the law, particularly a decision which simplified murder indictments in Nebraska. This decision, court attaches said, led the way to modernization of the state's criminal law procedure.

Another famous Rose decision defended the rights of women's suffrage.

Supreme Judge Rose made his personal filing for re-nomination in the secretary of state's office shortly before noon Saturday. He ranks next to Chief Justice Goss among the high bench membership.

FUTURE OF CIGARET INDUSTRY IS STUDIED

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—Soaring cigaret consumption—to peaks above those of 1929—has led financial circles to examine into the possibilities of further growth for the industry.

From 1920 to 1929, domestic consumption of cigarets shot ahead at a yearly rate of 11.7 per cent, a pace considerably faster than that of most other products.

Rebounding from the depression valley, consumption in 1934 showed an upturn of 12.3 per cent over 1933.

At the same time the point is stressed that the saturation point appears some way off, particularly inasmuch as "the feminine market is susceptible of further exploitation."

THE LINCOLN STAR

W.C.T.U. Head Says Prohibition Will Return; Lincoln Cargo Is Burned In Pennsylvania

Rev. Iva Innis Blames Movies For Reaction

Says Pendulum Will Swing Back and Liquor Be Banished

YORK, Neb., Oct. 26—(AP)—The Rev. Iva Innis of Lincoln, president of the Nebraska Women's Christian Temperance union, told delegates attending the organization's annual convention here last night "Just as sure as the resurrection followed the crucifixion, prohibition will follow repeal. The pendulum will swing back finally."

With those words ringing in their ears, the delegates today set about drafting resolutions at their annual convention and selecting officers to carry on the work for another year. Today's sessions were regarded as of great importance, although there are several prominent persons on the remaining program as speakers.

Mrs. Innis declared motion pictures are to blame for a moral letdown and repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

"It must not be assumed that the movies have reformed," she said. "We object to the exploitation of child life that the rich may become richer and adults have more time to play."

She urged ratification of the proposed federal child labor amendment, and discussed peace, political parties and bootleggers.

"You can't mix gasoline and booze," she declared. "The best way to unmix gasoline and booze is to get rid of booze. Just as sure as the resurrection followed the crucifixion, prohibition will follow repeal."

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor C. N. Beaver, who said York had been known for many years for its churches, schools and good citizens.

"We hope," he said, "to maintain that name. But since the world war we have been slipping and it will take the deep concern of the churches and organizations such as the W. C. T. U. to keep that good name."

Williams Is Speaker.

George Williams of Fairmont, former lieutenant governor, Friday assailed the liquor traffic as "socially, economically and morally wrong" in the principal address of the day. Williams criticized the Roosevelt administration, declaring it has failed to live up to promises made before the repeal of prohibition.

Recounting his work as a state legislator in 1919, which session ratified the Eighteenth amendment, Williams said "honest, Godly men and women thought we had won a victory that would last forever, but the liquor interests put on a propaganda campaign of falsehood and slander the like of which had never been known."

Sorensen Head State Bankers

Fremont Man Is Chosen To Succeed Otto Kotouc, Humboldt

OMAHA, Oct. 26—(AP)—J. M. Sorensen of Fremont, vice president of the Stephens National bank, Friday was elected president of the Nebraska Bankers' association as the group closed its 38th annual convention here. Sorensen succeeds Otto Kotouc of Humboldt. The Fremont banker, who was chairman of the association's executive council, was named president without a dissenting vote.

After hearing an address by Frank A. O'Connor, general agent for the farm credit administration here, the delegates adopted a resolution favoring elimination of practices by the production credit corporation, and FCA unit, that "are in direct conflict with the legitimate activities of commercial banks."

"The Production Credit corporation has gone beyond the purposes for which it was organized," the resolution said.

A resolution memorializing President Roosevelt to reappoint J. J. Thomas of Seward, former chairman of the democratic state central committee, as governor of the federal reserve board was adopted.

Other Officers Named.

A. J. Jorgensen of Sidney was named chairman of the executive council to succeed Sorensen. Other officers are: William B. Hughes of Omaha, re-elected secretary; John A. Changstrom of Omaha, treasurer; C. J. Mortensen of Ord, Nebraska vice president of the American Bankers' association; J. R. Cain of Omaha, Nebraska member of the A. B. A. nominating committee. The following were named members of the executive council for three year terms: J. E. Conklin of Hubbell, J. C. Peck of Creighton, George J. Taylor of North Platte, Joe V. Webster of Chadron, and James B. Owen of Omaha. H. A. Arnsberger of Oxford was elected for a one year term.

A resolution favoring adoption of a constitutional amendment to repeal the double liability of bank stockholders also was approved by the association. Nebraskans will vote in 1936 upon such an amendment.

To Lay New Emphasis In Land Use Program

Washington Official Describes Aims In Interview Here

The new emphasis of the land utilization division of the resettlement administration will hereafter be on "aiding people now living on land use projects," W. L. Harter of Washington, D. C., said today in an interview here.

To date, he said, the administration has given most of its attention to purchase of land for these projects. Now, however, he explained, "we will assist finding places for the families who sold their land voluntarily to the government."

"The idea," Harter continued, "is to relocate these families as near as possible to their present farms."

He said he expected to spend several days in Lincoln.

Tri-County Hearing In Snarl Again

Feasibility, Financing Are Argued At Long Night Session

A night session of the Tri-County water rights hearing, the first in the thirteen days the hearing has progressed, broke up late Friday night in a legal snarl as opposing counsel again battled over admissibility of testimony relative to the feasibility of the project, and its chances for obtaining financing.

George Johnson, chief engineer for Tri-County, and Paul F. Good, its counsel, hinted during the long cross-examination of Johnson by attorneys for objecting lower Platte river irrigators and other water users, that the Tri-County may look to souces other than the PWA for funds in addition to the $20,100,000 loan and grant recently allotted it.

Evans Move.

The legal snarl arose as E. H. Evans, counsel for the Sutherland district, Tri-County's rival PWA-sponsored development, sought to show Johnson's testimony concerning the engineering plans for a huge dam at Keystone to store the entire North Platte river flow was in direct conflict with that of another engineering expert, and reflected on the feasibility of the proposal.

Good finally objected to the line of questioning, reminding State Engineer A. C. Tilley of his earlier ruling that feasibility of the project, and correctness of engineering plans were not at issue in the present hearing, and have no bearing on the question of a grant of water rights. Tilley's ruling early in the hearing was based on the statutory provision that engineering plans for such projects need not be filed until six months after water rights have been granted, when they then must be passed upon by his department.

Argument Asked.

The state engineer asked counsel for the objectors to present argument at the Saturday morning session in support of their contention that feasibility of the Tri-County, involving engineering and financing plans, has a bearing on the public welfare, and therefore on the question of a grant of water rights.

Engineer Johnson offered surprise testimony to the effect that Tri-County intends to proceed with the Plum creek phase of the project, along with the Keystone dam. It had been intimated, earlier in the hearing, that the Plum creek reservoirs and power plants would be dropped temporarily from the plans. Johnson, in a vigorous reply to a question by Evans, declared that Tri-County has but one plan of construction, embracing both the Plum creek phase and the Keystone reservoir.

Not Only Source.

Good suggested that Tri-County may seek additional financing to the PWA funds from private sources, possibly through sale of bonds. He pointed out that the PWA is not the only source of finances open to the district.

The disparity mentioned by opposing counsel in engineering plans for the Keystone involved the height of the dam. Johnson repeated earlier testimony that 140 feet is sufficient to impound 2,000,000 acre-feet of water, which it is agreed, is sufficient water to operate the project and provide enough water for everyone below. Eugene E. Halmos, engineer in charge of design for the Sutherland district, however, several days ago, testified that such a dam would have to be 160 feet high to store that amount of water.

Halmos, at that time, testified that Keystone storage of 2,000,000 acre-feet of water, plus the Plum creek phase, would be a development which would solve the bitter Platte river water controversy.

Johnson explained in detail the engineering plans for the Tri-County, both as to power development and irrigation, and its plans for operation.

He testified that the Tri-County's three power plants to be located at Snell canyon and one below each of the Plum creek canyons, with one unit in operation at each plan would generate 142,280,000 kilowatt hours annually on a 80 per cent load factor. If two units were installed at each plant, as provided for in the plans, the power output on a 80 per cent load would be more than doubled. He said this would be firm power entirely.

Circuit Plans Continue.

Johnson testified that efforts are still in progress to work out a program for connecting the Tri-County Sutherland and Columbus projects into a giant state-wide system. Johnson, Don Price, chief engineer and general manager of Sutherland, and Eric Floor, Columbus engineer, conferred on the matter shortly after the historic Omaha conference with PWA officials, but nothing further has been done, Price said.

Johnson offered figures which he obtained in a study of the power market in Nebraska. Testifying that the annual power production in the state is 600,000,000 kwh., the engineer said that the cost of producing power ranges from 1.37 cents at the plant switchboard in cities of 10,000 and above, to 6.8 cents per kwh. in towns of less than 300 population. The wholesale cost of power delivered to switchboards ranges from 2.5 cents to 4.61 cents, he declared, adding that Tri-County will be able to deliver power to customer cities at 5.5 mills per kwh. on the average.

He said he figures Tri-County's power market embraces the territory within a 200-mile radius to the south, extending into Kansas.

Johnson said that Tri-County's plans for using the initial PWA allotment of $10,000,000 for the first year's work contemplates construction of the Phelps and Adams county canals, and start of work on the Keystone dam. He said $3,000,000 of the initial allotment would be spent on the canals, balance on the huge dam.

Upstream Move.

If it were necessary to eliminate the Plum creek storage and power phase because of inability to obtain more than $20,000,000 from either the government or private sources, Johnson said, Tri-County would move the Phelps county diversion canal farther up stream, and numerous water to the high table lands which otherwise would have to be eliminated from the project.

On the stand briefly during the afternoon, was T. F. Neighbors, Scottsbluff attorney for the North Platte Water Users association, embracing 18 ditches which were listed among the original objectors to Tri-County.

B. J. Cunningham, Grand Island, called Neighbors to testify concerning the stipulation entered into by him and Good, as a result of which Neighbors' clients withdrew from the lawsuit. The stipulation provided that Tri-County would never ask for water under its direct flow rights, should they be granted, should Pathfinder and other reservoirs up stream desire to store during the growing season, May 1-Oct. 1. Neighbors' clients hold storage rights in Pathfinder.

In substance, the stipulation provided that Pathfinder in Wyoming, and two smaller reservoirs in Scotts Bluff county could store water any time so far as Tri-County is concerned.

Cunningham and attorneys for other objectors contend this was an attempt by Tri-County and the upper North Platte irrigators to parcel up the water in violation of a Nebraska statute prohibiting storing of water when it is demanded by direct flow appropriators during the growing season.

Neighbors, however, disagreed as to the meaning of the statute. He explained that the statute provides that water may be stored during the months from October to May, but only by inference is storage prohibited during the growing season, a point which has never been adjudicated in this state.

Neighbors said he would press for a hearing on his objections in case any water rights granted to Tri-County do not contain provisions respecting the stipulation.

Accident Is Fatal To Hershey Teacher

Lenea Young Dies When Auto Is Sideswiped By Truck Near Lexington

LEXINGTON, Neb., Oct. 26—(AP)—Miss Lenea Young, Hershey school teacher, was killed near here Friday night when the automobile in which she was riding with four other Hershey teachers was sideswiped by a truck.

Miss Young was riding in a car driven by Claude Smith, superintendent of the Hershey schools. Miss Beatrice Smith, also a Hershey teacher, suffered a cut on the nose and bruises. The other occupants of the Smith car escaped without injury.

Smith said the accident occurred when he passed a car parked along the road and met a truck driven by Wayne Highland of Grand Island. Highland's truck sideswiped Smith's car, striking the side of the machine on which Miss Young was seated.

She suffered internal injuries and died about 30 minutes after being brought to a hospital here.

The teachers were returning from the district convention at Hastings.

Miss Young, who was the daughter of Peter Young of Hershey, was 31 years old. Funeral services and interment will take place Monday.

Injuries Are Fatal.

OMAHA, Oct. 26—(AP)—Mrs. Vella M. Mulligan, 38, of Omaha died in a hospital here Friday from injuries suffered early Sunday morning when the automobile in which she was riding overturned about 5 miles east of Elkhorn. Surviving are two children, her mother, two sisters and a brother, all of Omaha.

John Mead of Sioux City, brother of Fred, and Howard Vernon of Fairbury, who were identified as the other members of the group robbing the bank, now are serving prison terms.

BANKERS LIFE LOSES LAWSUIT IN MISSOURI

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 26 — (AP) — The question of whether William G. O'Connell, a Miller county resident, died in a Bagnell, Mo., hotel fire in 1931 was answered affirmatively here Friday by a Federal court jury. The decision came in a verdict awarding Mrs. Emma H. Bingham of Oketa, Kas., former wife of O'Connell, $12,360 on insurance policies taken out on his life. Defendant in the suit, the Bankers Life Insurance company of Lincoln, Neb., contended O'Connell's death was not legally established.

Two Men Burn To Death When Truck Crashes

Tragedy Occurs On Mountain Side On Road To Washington

CRESSON, Pa., Oct. 26—(AP)—A loaded truck and trailer overturned on dangerous Cresson mountain last night, burned two men to death and started a forest fire which took all night to bring under control.

Highway patrolmen said the truck, loaded with frozen eggs, missed a curve. The vehicle was owned by the Cooper-Jarrett Trucking company of Kansas City, Mo. The bodies of the two men were recovered and taken to Hollidaysburg, several miles away.

Cooper-Jarrett officials said at Kansas City one of the men was Fred Lyman, Boone, Iowa. They had no information, they said, regarding the identity of the other victim. On one of the men officers found an Indiana chauffeur's license. The truck bore an Indiana license. The Kansas City office of the Cooper-Jarrett company said the trailer bore Nebraska license No. 2-C2043.

Left Lincoln Wednesday.

The truck and trailer which overturned and burned near Cresson, Pa., last night left Lincoln last Wednesday for Washington, D. C. Fred Lyman of Boone, Iowa was in charge of the truck when it left here. His companion was not known here.

Was Indiana Man.

OMAHA, Oct. 26—(AP)—Officials of the Cooper-Jarrett, Inc., trucking company here, said that the second man killed in a truck accident at Cresson, Pa., might be Harry Sheets, of Anderson, Ind.

Officials of the company said that Fred Lyman of Boone, Ia., in charge of the truck, had Sheets as a passenger when the truck left here. Two drivers are usually assigned to each truck but Lyman went alone, saying he intended to pick up a driver at Boone, but that if he did not, he would seek to hire Sheets, who had been driving for a company at Anderson.

Cooper-Jarrett officials said they had learned that Lyman did not pick up a driver at Boone and that Sheets had left his job with the Anderson company, leading them to believe Sheets was the other man killed with Lyman in the crash.

DICTATORSHIP TREND IS SEEN BY MARSH

People's Lobby Official Talks To Peace Group; Luckey Hits Arms

Benjamin C. Marsh, executive secretary of the People's lobby from Washington, D. C., Friday evening before members of the Lincoln Peace council meeting at the Y. W. C. A. painted the European dictatorship spectre as an imminent danger in America.

Mr. Marsh, just returned from a trip to Europe, said in part:

"Europe's plight is the inevitable result of attempting to maintain returns upon high land values, over-capitalization, and impossible debt, and generally narrow nationalism. America is heading rapidly in the same direction."

Recent Improvement.

Pointing out, however, that conditions generally have shown great improvement in Europe recently, the speaker turned his attention to this country by saying:

"We can much better spend our energies putting our own house in order, than trying to save European imperialism of any brand, but should co-operate in any effort of the League of Nations for a better distribution of natural resources and other raw material, while staying neutral and avoiding sanctions."

The Washington lobby secretary spoke bitterly of the New Deal legislation; termed the "farm program a swindle;" the "housing program a scandal." He suggested in their place government owned and operated programs.

Luckey Raps Armament.

Congressman H. C. Luckey, second speaker on the program, discussed the war situation from the standpoint of domestic preparedness since the armistice. He said:

"We are spending too much for preparedness. United States is so situated geographically that we do not need a large army such as is now being built. The way to peace is not by enlarging armaments, but disarming."

"This country can avert war by remaining neutral. The best way, however, is to eliminate profits of war made by powerful munition interests." Both speakers were introduced by Peace Council president D. R. Marti.

Members of the peace council approved a recommendation by Mrs. Arthur L. Smith that the group go on record as urging the United States stand with the League of Nations in imposing of economic restrictions on Italy.

Miss Eleanora Miller, one the leaders in the Lincoln peace council, announced that peace bonds of $1, $5 and $10 denominations are now on sale in Lincoln. It is the aim of national peace organizations to raise $1,000,000 in the drive. Each person purchasing a bond may allocate 40 per cent of the contribution toward any fund he wishes to give special support.

Plans Legislation For Electrification

Norris May Introduce Bill For Rural Lines At Next Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—Legislation to embark the government on a far-flung rural electrification program may be introduced in the next congressional session by Senator Norris of Nebraska. Aids of Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, began writing today data requested by Norris upon which they expect him to base his legislation.

They estimated $500,000,000 could be spend building rural power lines which, they said, would pay for themselves if reductions in the cost of electric energy are made. Such a federal fund they figured, would triple the present number of electrified farms, and place electricity within reach of 1,500,000 additional rural homes.

Norris indicated in a letter to Cooke he had in mind government subsidies to assure transmission lines in every possible rural community. Cooke said he believed with Norris "that comprehensive rural electrification must come."

Norris asked Cooke for information on four points: What would be involved in the proper extension of rural lines; how soon it could be brought about; whether a subsidy would be wise; and if so, at what point the subsidy should begin.

"A careful study of the question of rural electrification," Norris said, "as applied to our country, makes it increasingly obvious that the time is at hand when, as a nation, we should adopt a more positive program for electrifying the largest possible number of our farms."

McCook Jubilee Big Success

Another Large Crowd Present For Final Program Friday Night

M'COOK, Neb., Oct. 26—(AP)—Southwestern Nebraska's three day jubilee, marking the recovery of the Republican river valley from the devastating floods of last spring closed here Friday night with final presentation of the Kearney passion play.

Despite a cold, damp morning, a crowd estimated at 8,000 persons was here by noon, and the bright sunshine and warmer temperatures of the afternoon caused more people to come to McCook to witness the final program of the greatest celebration in this city's history.

With the return of Governor Cochran and other notables to their respective homes Thursday night, it was more of a "home day" as the various committees and others interested in the jubilee took occasion to congratulate each other on the celebration's success.

At the army exhibition in the afternoon a telegram was read from Maj. Gen. Frank Bolles of the seventh corps area, Omaha, expressing appreciation to the enlisted men for their part in the jubilee.

Police Chief Dutcher especially was satisfied with the behavior of the crowd throughout the three days. He said no arrests were made during the jubilee and the event was free from accidents or mishaps.

Witte Seeking Funds For Direct Relief

Hopes To Obtain Allowance For Nebraska For November

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—Ernest F. Witte, Nebraska emergency relief administrator and Milton C. Murphy, assistant Nebraska attorney general will confer with social security officials here today in an effort to get federal funds for direct relief in Nebraska during November.

Social security experts said they also hoped the conference would result in a comprehensive bill being submitted to the special session of the Nebraska legislature next Monday which would permit the state to qualify under all the phases of the new federal law.

Witte discussed the Nebraska situation yesterday with Aubrey Williams, assistant relief administrator, and reported there was "some chance" of getting a further allotment because Nebraska's relief load increased between August and September. Federal officials have indicated they have abandoned hopes of ending direct grants completely by November 1 and acknowledged additional funds must be provided to some states to clear the gap until the works progress administration program gets more fully under way.

"I have no desire whatever to be a candidate for governor and positively will not run for that office," Coffee said.

When you light a match to see if your gasoline tank is empty you are taking a great chance if it IS empty—for an empty gasoline tank is more likely to explode than a full one.

Gasoline, before it can explode, must vaporize. If a tank is full there is no room for explosive vapors to collect. A tank partly empty is likely to have dangerous gases. Even though a can or tank is empty and has the cover removed, there is no guarantee that it is not explosive. Vapors in an empty, uncovered tank have been known to remain there for two years, according to Fire Chief Blake of the Los Angeles Fire department.

Samuel P. Carter, admiral of the navy and major general of the army, began his career at the age of 21 in the navy when he left Princeton in 1840 to become a midshipman. He was later an instructor at the naval academy, and during the Mexican war he served with distinction.

In 1861 he was transferred to the war department. He served with the army during the Civil war, becoming a major general in 1865. He retired from the army to serve with the navy again, and from 1869 to 1872 he was commandant of the naval academy. He retired nine years later.

The old expression that a hole dug straight down in the United States or Canada would come out in China is a big mistake. Such a hole would come out at sea in the Indian ocean in the Southern hemisphere. You would have to go south of the equator and start digging if you wanted to come out in China.

CHEERING NEWS.

IT will be set down by anti-administration spokesmen that President Roosevelt's statement upon his return from a transcontinental trip was political chatter, uttered with an eye to the approaching election of 1936.

"I can bring you good news," the president said, and this is the substance of the cheering message he delivered.

In the thirty days preceding this present month, 350,000 workers were added to private employment by reporting industries, and weekly payrolls were nearly 12 million dollars greater than in August. This would mean more than 10,000 men daily for every day in September. Since the low point of the depression in March, 1933, 5 million workers have found private employment, with an increase in payrolls of 104 million dollars.

In the durable goods industry, the president revealed employment now is 62 per cent higher than in the spring of 1932, and weekly payrolls have increased 139 per cent. The net increase in employment in these industries is 1,185,000 workers and the gain in weekly payrolls is 40 millions.

The significance of these last compilations can not be overemphasized. It was the durable goods industries which were giving leaders in recovery the utmost concern. While many factors indicated an upswing, the durable goods section lagged and lagged, and until it began to show improvement it could be said with justice that one of the basic factors in America had failed to respond to treatment. Industrial activity is measured largely by the volume of durable goods production. More than that, the chief source of employment for industrial workers is within those industries. The continuous improvement shown in recent months, the expanding volume of production, the increase in employment within those industries, and the subsequent flattering gain in weekly payrolls furnish the most hopeful industrial development that has taken place since the depression of 1929.

TWO days after Mr. Roosevelt's homecoming, the Associated Press, a nonpartisan news agency, issued its business review prepared by its financial and economic experts.

It said:

"The automobile industry roared down the recovery highway this week, stirring the nation's industrial activity to the fastest pace for this time of the year in a long period. The biggest production of new automobiles for October since 1929 lifted the weekly index of industrial activity to a new high for 1935. In fact, it touched the highest level with the exception of a brief period in July 1933. * * * Steel production did almost as well. The American Iron and Steel institute estimated production for the week at 51.8 per cent of capacity, which approximated the output at this time in 1930. The previous week was 50.4 and a year ago 22.8. The statistics showed a slight recession in electric power production, after recording an all car loadings dipped a trifle in the preceding seven time high in the second week of October. Freight day period after reaching a new high since the autumn of 1931. This was regarded as due in part to unseasonably warm weather over much of the country.

"The index of industrial activity, based on 1929-30 as 100, was placed today at 81.5, compared with 77 the previous week, and 62.5 a year ago.

	This Week	Previous Week	Year Ago
Composite Index	81.5	77	62.5
Automobile Production	106.5	73.4	40.6
Steel Mill Activity	69.5	67.6	30.8
Cotton Manf'g Activity	95	97.4	90.7
Elec. Power Production	101.2	101.6	93.9
Residential Building	43.5	42.5	16.4
Total Car Loadings	68.6	69.1	59.9

THAT is the undistorted picture of American business. It reflects the growing momentum of national recovery. Some years back, the favorite question on the street was when the depression would end. Each man had his guess. One of the most prominent business leaders said we would wake up one morning and find it over.

So far as its more acute aspects are concerned, the depression now is over. America is on the upgrade. She is regaining slowly and gradually a robust economic life. But the depression is not over for many people. Many still are unemployed. It is conceivable that when better crops than in 1934, better commodity prices on the farm, the fairer treatment of agriculture that has taken place in the last two years, have had the chance to make themselves felt fully, then even greater opportunities for workers will be provided. But he who would look the situation squarely in the eye must realize now that for hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of older men, the chance of work of a permanent nature is slight. That is the sound foundation of the present social security program. Behind it, history passes in review. There was the era of the Revolution, during which a democracy was founded, and its first concern was the establishment of a permanent governmental structure. There was the era when all roads led to the beckoning west; when settlement, colonization, and development were taking place, and when frequently military heroes furnished the leadership of the American people. There was the following era of great industrial and business development, when the full dinner pail became the slogan; and for years the nation decided elections strictly on the issue of the business policy for a young man grown to manhood, and feeling for the first time its full strength. There is another era dawning, a nation older, which has its industrial plant built, which has completed the settlement of new land—and which now for the next span of years must turn to a courageous study of social problems. That is the full vision of Roosevelt's leadership—he's out ahead of the pack in thinking of his country, its people, and their problems.

BURNING THE MORTGAGE

IN a current magazine article written by a former newspaper editor it is stated that the informative editorial is now meeting with greater favor than those that are purely argumentative. So here goes.

A Nebraska congregation recently held a great celebration when it burned the mortgage which had been a lien against its church property. In fact such incidents are not unusual, not only in this state but in others,, the people seeming to think that in destroying the mortgage they are destroying the evidence of the debt and that such debt could not be collected, even though it had not been paid. Nothing could be farther from the fact.

It is the promissory note that is the primary evidence of the debt, and the mortgage follows the note. To illustrate: A Nebraska man a few years ago owned a note secured by mortgage on a farm in another county. He took the note to a bank in still another county and by discounting it sold it to a banker who knew him. He said that he did not have the mortgage with him, but that it was recorded and that he would mail it to the banker. Being known to the latter he got the money.

Then he took the mortgage to the man who owed the money, and by offering a liberal discount he sold the mortgage to the debtor. When the note matured the farmer was surprised to receive a notice from the bank informing him that his note was due and asking for payment. Investigation disclosed what had been done and after the farmer had consulted his attorney and learned that there was no recourse, he paid the note in full.

The victim of this fraud supposed that when he had possession of the mortgage he had the evidence that his debt had been paid, and it may be that those who "burn the mortgage" hold like opinions. The better plan would be to burn the note and retain the mortgage as a souvenir.

TREAT ALL BANKS ALIKE

STATE banks of Nebraska must be placed on an equal footing with national banks in order to hold their own. These institutions are necessary to serve the people of their communities, and it is in accord with the general public interest that they should not be placed at a competitive disadvantage with those operating under federal charters.

Passage of a resolution by the Nebraska bankers' association, which includes both state and national banks in its membership, in favor of abolishing the double liability of stockholders in state banks is nothing more than a recognition of the old rule that sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander also.

Congress has already done away with double liability as applied to national bank stockholders. The owners of state bank shares are still subject to it; but an amendment to the state constitution to relieve them of the burden has been submitted by the legislature and will be voted on by the people at the election in November, 1936.

In fairness to state banks, those who have invested their money in them, and the citizens to whom they are rendering service of great value, this amendment should be adopted.

Double liability is a relic of the old days of "wild-cat" banking three-quarters of a century ago, when the money loaning business was not under close governmental supervision. It was necessary then to make every person having an interest in a bank individually responsible for its obligations, in order to provide depositors a reasonable assurance that those to whom they entrusted their money would repay it.

Conditions now are altogether different. Banks are under the strictest surveillance and must meet rigid requirements all along the line. The double liability is no longer needed.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "The Human Body."

WHY BODY MUST HAVE ACID-ALKALINE EQUITY.

People talk a great deal of being acid. And like to alkanize themselves to counteract this.

Whether there actually is much acidosis is open to question. Certainly every case of disturbance of the acid-alkaline balance of the body must be rapidly corrected or very serious consequences insue.

We have very delicate chemical methods of determining the exact reaction of the blood and tissues of the body. We can tell to a nicety whether they are even ever so slightly acid or not. Of course, acids are harmful, but so are their opposites—the chemical substances which react in an alkaline fashion. An extreme example is caustic soda which will destroy animal tissues. So what we want to strive for is neither acidity nor alkalinity, but a contion of neutrality.

And this is exactly what the body strives for desperately all its life—and manages to maintain to a nicety by a most ingenious set of chemical reactions, carried on by the buffer substances of the blood.

Example of Acidity.

An example of acidity in the body frequently seen is the exhaustion that follows extreme muscular effort. We saw when we were examining the chemistry of muscular exercises a day or so ago, that one of the first chemicals to be formed in the body as a result of muscular contraction, is lactic acid. It is formed in considerable quantities, and unless plenty of oxygen gets to the muscles to correct it, it brings about cessation of contraction, and fatigue through its accumulation in the tissues. With our comparatively inadequate method of supplying oxygen to the muscles—as described in the article this week on muscle functioning—this condition comes to every man as a result of more or less violent exertion. When it does arrive, as in the case of the distance runner after a race, he is in a condition of acidosis, and as can be seen from his violent breathing, it is a quite uncomfortable state to be in. Unless enough oxygen is pumped to the muscles to reduce the lactic acid, indeed death will result.

In disease conditions, acidosis is frequently seen, but is usually so serious as to constitute an emergency. Thus, in diabetes, the patients may become sluggish and go into coma, unless they are getting enough insulin. This coma is the result of the accumulation of the ketone bodies which come from the fatty acids, incompletely reduced in the diabetic state.

Under most conditions, however, the body is fully able to compensate for any disturbance in its acid-base balance.

QUESTION.

"I have heard that eating yeast will cause cancer. Is there any truth in this statement?"

ANSWER.

We do not know the cause of cancer, but certainly yeast has never been considered to be a cause. Considering the amount of bread that is eaten, and also the amount of raw yeast, cancer would be practically universal if this were true.

No one knows this better than does Jumper. Times without number has speed saved Jumper's life. He knows that it is not only necessary to be able to run fast, but also to run for a long time. Jumper is not one to seek shelter in a hole in the ground. Peter Rabbit will, when closely pursued, but it is a rare thing for Jumper the Hare to seek shelter in any such place as that. He would feel trapped. He would feel even more scared than when he knew the enemy was at his heels. So on his speed and his wits Jumper the Hare depends.

Old Man Coyote had made a mistake. We all do that sometimes, you know. He had felt sure that Jumper the Hare had not seen him and did not know that he was about. So he had tried to creep up on Jumper. Then Jumper had come out into the open and Old Man Coyote's only hope of catching him was an open chase. He hoped by the suddenness and unexpectedness of his first long jump to get so near to Jumper that he would be able to run him down in a short dash. His mistake lay in the fact that all the time Jumper knew just what Old Man Coyote was about. He was ready for that first jump and he himself made a long jump at the same instant. Then the race was on. Old Man Coyote is swift of foot. He is very swift of foot, indeed. He put on his best speed now and, do what he would, Jumper could not gain on him. But, for that matter, neither could Old Man Coyote gain on Jumper. Dodging among the trees, Jumper the Hare led the way farther and farther into the Green Forest. Old Man Coyote is not one to give up easily. Jumper the Hare was just near enough to be tantalizing and Old Man Coyote, despite the fact that he knew that Jumper could run for a long time and do it at high speed, just couldn't give up.

Now, with such fast running it was not long before Old Man Coyote had been led far from the edge of the Green Forest. Ordinarily Jumper would have circled about, but this time he had run for a long distance almost straightaway.

"I must get him far away before I begin circling," thought Jumper. "I suppose I'll have to keep him running until he gets tire. If I tire him out he isn't likely to go back where he started from. If he doesn't go back where we started from he won't find Cousin Peter."

So Jumper kept on with great jumps, lipperty-lipperty-lipperty-lip. And behind him raced Old Man Coyote. After a while his tongue began to hang out. He was hot and he was tired, but every time he slowed a little and began to think of giving up the chase Jumper the Hare seemed to slow up a little, too, as if he was tired and ready to quit.

"It's funny," thought Old Man Coyote, "that Jumper doesn't circle about. I don't know as I have ever known him to run so far straightaway before. I wonder what the idea is. If he would only begin to circle I might have some chance of outwitting him. As it is, there is nothing to do but keep on after him."

By and by Jumper did begin to circle. Running in circles is a habit with members of the Rabbit family, and you know Jumper the Hare is a member of that family. In some places he is called Snowshoe Rabbit, although he belongs to the Hare branch. So Jumper began to run in a big circle and Old Man Coyote felt renewed hope.

"I guess," thought Old Man Coyote, "he's getting tired. If I can only get him tired out I'll catch him."

Old Man Coyote, having discovered in which way Jumper was circling, instead of following cut across so as to get ahead of Jumper and lie in wait for him. He hid behind a little pile of brush and there he waited. He was sure that Jumper hadn't passed. He waited and waited and waited in vain. Jumper had discovered that he was not being followed and he was squatting in a little hemlock thicket getting his breath and resting his legs. He had done what he started out to do; he had led Old Man Coyote away from where Peter Rabbit was held a prisoner.

JUST FOLKS

MAN AND BRUTE.

My dog has time to spare;
He settles in the sun
And soundly sleeping there
With the great world is done.
He questions not the stars
Nor orbs that swim along,
Mankind and motor cars,
Nor even right and wrong.

Things of his world are stilled,
Hunger and thirst and fear;
His pulse would not be thrilled
Should king or prince appear.
Time has no gain to yield
Till death his life erase;
His sport is of the field,
His joy is in the chase.

But man with time to spare
May dream and think and read,
Find round him everywhere
Joys for his every need.
On glories past and gone
And all that is to be
His mind may dwell upon
In sweet serenity.

The world is his to own,
To revel in and know;
Books, when he sits alone,
Can set his heart aglow.
His is the finer sense,
Which nowhere else appears,
A vast experience
To gladden all his years.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 43.
BIG NEWS.

Judith burst precipitately into Emily's room at seven o'clock on a February morning. Her hair was on end and her dressing gown waved behind her.

"I can't stand it any longer or I'll explode like a steam boiler!"

Emily blinked and sat up in sudden alarm. She was accustomed to Judith's effervescence but this was different; this was Vesuvius in eruption. She thought wildly of Frances and Jeffrey, then of Aubrey and Davey.

"Judith, is it—?"

Judith made a flying leap and landed in the middle of the great walnut bed.

"I was going to keep it for a surprise, but the pressure's gotten too dangerous. David's coming home!"

David. She sat very still for a moment, then she forced herself to whisper:

"When?"

"This afternoon The wire just came. He's landing this morning and flying to Montgomery." She flung her arms wide. "Isn't it the swellest thing you ever heard of?"

In spite of the turmoil of her thoughts Emily laughed. "It's the grandest thing I ever heard of, Jude, darling, I'm as thrilled for you as you are for yourself."

Judith sat up. "How about being a little thrilled on your own account?"

"Because I don't figure in it," She eyed Judith in sudden terror. "Did you tell him I was here?"

Judith shook her head. "That was another of my surprises."

She sighed with relief. "Thank heaven for that!"

"Why?"

"Because I'm going home."

Judith stared at her in consternation. "You're doing nothing of the sort! Why do you think all this was engineered?"

"But don't you see," she spread her hands in a hopeless little gesture, "that being here now would be nothing on earth but throwing myself at him."

"It wouldn't." Judith's voice was rough with conviction. "David knows you too well, even now, ever to think that. And if you think that David would marry anybody on earth from a sense of duty you're all wet. He's too much of a Carroll for that; they don't know the meaning of the word. Now will you stay here and take your chances, or will you run like a scared rabbit?"

Emily's eyes were on the coverlet. "I'll stay."

Judith flung both arms about her neck. "I knew you would! Now hurry and get dressed; we've got things to do."

Mercifully, the plane was on time, or Judith would have demoralized the entire airport. She pushed past a uniformed official, was snatched by a greasy mechanic from a horrible death in the propeller and flung herself upon the first male passenger who descended, knowing instinctively that David would be the first man to alight.

In the car David found the tonneau light and switched it on. "I want a good look at you," he explained as the car moved away.

They were holding hands unashamedly now; still smiling a little tremulously at each other. Judith said tragically:

"You look like—Zeus or somebody, but I'm sure I've aged terribly!"

"Terribly," David agreed gravely, and they both burst out laughing.

She looked about the car for something to burl and David said persuasively. "Not on my first day at home, please. Sit back and tell me about Aubrey and my nephew."

She leaned back and he put an arm about her shoulders. For half an hour she talked steadily.

Aubrey and Davey, who had watched for the headlights as they turned in the driveway, were waiting on the steps. Emily, Judith observed, was not visible. The two men gripped hands, smilingly and almost wordlessly, and Judith caught up her son.

They went inside the house and David stopped for a moment in the hall, in his eyes the expression of a pilgrim returning to a well-remembered shrine. He had known Morton Hall well in the past.

"Oh, Jude," he turned swiftly to her and his voice broke a little, "if you knew what it means to be back!"

His eyes swept the living-room with the same hungry glance, as if he had only this moment to imprint its appearance upon his memory forever. Then he smiled at her.

"Quite the chatelaine, aren't you?"

"Quite." Her ears attuned to the floor above had heard Emily leave her room and begin to descend the stairs.

From his position near the archway David saw her first, and recognized her instantly. He whirled on Judith, his voice a sharken, angry whisper.

"If this is your idea if a joke, it's damned poor taste!"

Judith's heart was singing. She whispered back: "It's not a joke, you idiot! Do you think she'd be here if everything weren't all right?"

There was no time for more. Emily was coming in and David had crossed the room to meet her.

David took her hands and smiled down at her. "If this isn't a perfect climax to a perfect homecoming." But his voice, Judith noted, was gay and not shaken; was friendly without being intimate. She held her breath, praying that Emily wouldn't betray herself.

David took her hands, and smiled.

Emily did not. Her smile was as gay as David's, and her voice as carefully controlled. "I thought I was beyond being surprised by the Carroll's, but I'm not. David, it's wonderful to see you!"

"If I tried to say how good it is to see you I'd be guilty of understatement.

She laughed quietly, and crossed the room to the others. To cover the pause Judith said quickly:

"Why can't we have our cocktails now? Then David can go up and array himself afterwards if he chooses."

David grinned. "I think I can bear it." He handed a glass to Emily and as Judith re-entered the room, another to her. Then he lifted his own, as Judith had done six weeks before.

"For Auld Lang Syne." Over the rim of his glass his eyes sought Emily's for a second, then passed quickly on to the others.

"And the years ahead!" Judith said quickly.

They drank, almost solemnly, and started as a crash shattered the stillness. Judith had flung her glass against the hearth.

David startled and unnerved, laughed roughly. "The same old Bernhardt!" he teased her.

"I'm not!" she defended herself hotly. "But that's the sort of toast that requires a broken glass."

Il Duce Envoy Finally Quits Addis Ababa

Last Diplomatic Thread Between Warring Nations Is Broken

(By the Associated Press.)

The last diplomatic thread between Italy and Ethiopia was broken today.

Premier Mussolini's minister at Addis Ababa, Count Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, finally departed for home, more than two weeks after Emperor Haile Selassie asked him to pack his bags.

In spite of troop movements, war has not been declared. Neither country has made a formal declaration of hostilities—Mussolini apparently for political reasons, Haile Selassie because he is the defender.

The Italian count, removed to Rome by way of Djibouti, French Somaliland, refused to leave Addis Ababa until the last Italian consular agent from the interior was accounted for. The Addis Ababa representative at Rome already has been ordered home.

Italian Troops Move Forward

ROME, Oct. 26— (AP) —The government announced today that native Eritrean troops under Italian command were moving forward to occupy the valley of the Faras Mai river.

The operation was regarded here as foreshadowing an advance on Makale, since the river flows approximately south from Aduwa to what is generally believed to be the northern army's next objective, 70 miles south of Adua.

An official communique said information from the native chiefs in the region indicated the population was "anxiously" awaiting the Italian occupation.

Italian aviators have made reconnaissance flights over the Aussa region, but the government stated they have discovered nothing. It was also stated that there was nothing to report on the southern front.

N. U. Students Hold Torchlight Parade In Rally For Game

Student spirit on the University of Nebraska campus soared Friday evening on the eve of the Oklahoma - Cornhusker football game, when about one thousand students carried out a torchlight parade.

The parade, forming at the Temple theater, marched east to Sixteenth street, north to Vine street, and then to the stadium where a big pep rally was put on by students, headed by Corn Bobs and Tassels, campus pep organizations.

At the stadium short talks were given by Game Captain Harold Holmbeck and Coach Browne. Miss Barabra Bible, young daughter of Coach Bible and honorary member of the Tassels, was presented to the rally crowd by Elizabeth Shearer, president of the Tassels.

Wesleyan University Alumni Hold Reunion

Over 75 alumni of Wesleyan University Friday night gathered at the Grand Hotel for the twenty-second annual homecoming dinner. The informal dinner was arranged by Miss Ethel E. Booth and Miss Marietta Snow of the Wesleyan faculty staff, and P. N. Springer, president of the alumni association. Following dinner the group attended the annual homecoming game.

A gangster, name unknown, fired a "slug" into the liver of another gangster, Arthur Flegenheimer, alias "Dutch Schultz." That bullet puts Schultz into his grave and, in the language of Will Rogers, "chased Haile Selassie right off the front page of New York newspapers."

Future historians will want to know that a bullet in a criminal interests millions of 1935 Americans more than an actual war in Africa and a possible war in Europe.

To your list of "death bed sayings" of well known men, you may add some "last words" of "Dutch Schultz" Flegenheimer, shot to death by a rival gangster.

Police stenographers took down all his dying words. Here are some, all uttered in half-delirium:

George, don't make no moves. What have you done with him?"

"Oh, Mama, mama, mama. Oh stop it. Sure, sure."

"Now listen, Phil, fun is fun."

"Oh, oh, he done it. Please."

"You promised a million-sure."

"Please make it quick, fast and furious, please fast and furious."

"Please tell him you got no case."

"Cut that out! We don't owe a nickel; hold it."

Police questioned him as he talked. "What did they shoot you for? Did the big fellow give it to you."

Answer: "Yes, he gave it to me."

"Do you know who this big fellow was?"

Answer: "No." And death came soon after.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt predicts "an end of the dole by Dec. 1." In New York six thousand rebelled, went on strike because the government permitted itself to discontinue the services of 900. There may be serious difficulties if the government tries to stop distributing cash.

There is encouragement in the fact that "regular jobs," not the artificial made-to-order kind, are increasing. Three hundred and fifty thousand men were hired in September and payrolls for September are $12,000,000 a week above August.

Italy Buys Meat

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 26—(AP)—Italy will be able to buy Brazil meat, presumably for its armies in east Africa, through arrangements just concluded. The agreement, described by the Brazilian foreign ministry as the largest transaction of its kind between the two governments in recent years, calls for the delivery of 22,000 metric tons of frozen beef. Negotiations also were concluded for the sale of about 60,000 sacks of coffee, each weighing 132.24 pounds, to Italy.

Stock Prices Generally Advance In Fractional Range; Many Issues Hit New Highs

EXCHANGE FINAL TONE IS STEADY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—

The stock market edged forward today, many issues to new highs for the past four years or so, despite the restraining influence of week-end profit taking.

Scattered specialties again found followings at substantial advances, but the list, as a whole, moved in a fractional range. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

It was one of the most active Saturday sessions in several weeks, with realizing accounting for much of the volume. Nibbling continued at the motors, rails, oils and merchandising stocks.

Trade happenings were still bullish. Earnings statements, on the whole, were comforting. The Sun Oil Co. declared an extra dividend of 7 per cent in stock in addition to the regular quarterly 25-cent disbursement. Union Oil of California raised its prices for crude 50 cents a barrel to the highest level in more than two years.

Grains sagged both at Chicago and Winnipeg. Cotton was little better than even most of the day. Bonds were mixed and foreign exchanges slipped a shade in either direction.

Shares of Budd Mfg. preferred got up 3 points and others, fractionally to a point or more improved, included Johns-Manville, Tennessee Corp., Libby-Owens, Burroughs Adding, Allis-Chalmers, Food Machinery, Great Northern, New York Central, Westinghouse Airbrake, Baldwin preferred, Pullman, Case, General Electric, General Motors, Western Union, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. The steels, coppers and oils were narrow.

The majority of the day's market letters were inclined to stress the need of caution in the equities division because of the rapid advance of the list.

At the same time there was little change in the view tha tthe long-pull for sound stocks is upward. Reactionary sentiment of the so-called professional element in the commission houses was expected to slow the forward push from time to time.

Foreign developments were not quite so favorable, with cables stating a stalemate had been reached in efforts to end the African war and that there were few hopes of an early cessation of hostilities.

New York banks with foreign connections find that buying of American securities from abroad shows no signs of abating.

A large brokerage establishment reported that wire orders from cities in the west and mid-west have been accounting for an important proposition of the turnover in stocks. It was added that trading by New Yorkers was far behind that of the rest of the country.

SHARP BREAK IN CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—

Shaken by a collapse of Winnipeg wheat prices to below the Canadian government's minimum to farmers, grain values in Chicago suffered sharp breaks today.

All deliveries of wheat at Winnipeg fell 3 cents a bushel, the full limit allowed there during one day's dealings. Chicago wheat receded a maximum of 2⅛ cents.

Wheat closed nervous, 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents under yesterday's finish, December 98¾@98⅞c, corn ⅛ to ½ cent off, December 60⅝@¾c, oats ⅛ to ⅜ cent down and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

Influenced by lower quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires, the Chicago wheat market underwent a price decline early today. Rains in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma were also a bearish factor.

Opening ⅜ to 1 cent down, December 99⅜@½c, Chicago wheat values then rallied somewhat. Corn started unchanged to ¼ cent off, December 60⅞@61c, and afterward advanced.

Pronounced weakness that developed in Chicago wheat prices later was associated with an unsteady close in Buenos Aires today and with a break at Winnipeg to under the Canadian government guarantee to farmers. It was reported Argentine shippers were selling futures because of improved crop prospects for wheat in Argentina. Canadian shippers reported that only small business was in progress.

Setbacks of wheat prices took the market here down to around 2 cents under yesterday's finish. Much notice was taken of the fact that October delivery of wheat at Winnipeg had dropped to 86¼c.

This was the first time the Winnipeg market had dipepd under 87½ cents since a minimum price at that level had been officially guaranteed to farmers a month ago. Bear sentiment was emphasized by word that Winnipeg December wheat had also tumbled to 86¼c, off 3 cents, the permissable limit for any single day.

Corn, oats and provisions sympathized with action of wheat.

About mid-session, wheat was 1½ to 1⅝ cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, December 99c, and corn was ⅜ to ⅝ cent down, December 60½c.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 81 cars, a week ago 84, and a year ago 54.

Wheat purchases yesterday totaled 19,488,000 bushels, corn 3,609,000. Open interest in wheat was 128,794,000 bushels, and in corn 30,322,000.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Oct. 26—(AP)—Lamson Bros. & Co., said: "Dealers attending a grain meeting at La Salle, Ill., report big yields of corn shown by early husking; most farmers are waiting for the corn to become drier before picking."

Combined Argentine and Australian shipments of wheat totaled 3,844,000 bushels the past week. This is almost the same as the amount shipped in the preceding week, as well as a year ago.

Broomhall said: "Our cabled report of the Argentine weather showed that the country was enjoying clear and warm weather. The remaining surplus of wheat is probably under 20,000,000 bushels so that the carryover into the 1936 season is not likely to be important."

Bartlett Frazier Co. was advised in a message from Minneapolis that "you will see a pretty good run of new corn in this market within 10 days."

Argentine corn shipments of 4,960,000 bushels the past week included 602,000 bushels cleared for the United States.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW

NEW YORK, Oct 26—(AP)—

A steady demand for utilities, oils and specialties kept the curb market pointed upward today. Advances ranged from fractions to as much as 5 points with most all groups active at higher levels.

Electric Bond & Share was in heavy demand again and extended the advance of Friday another point at 16⅝. Other shares selling higher included Gulf Oil, Creole Petroleum, Fajardo sugar, Newmont Mining, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Singer Mfg and techni-color. Consolidated retail stores preferred made an extreme advance of 5 points and Parker Rust Proof got up nearly 3 at 63⅝.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—

The bond market was a somewhat mixed affair during the short session today. With few exceptions, however, the gains and losses carried values only slightly distant from th eclosing levels of Friday.

So far as the general corporate list was concerned the week's progress toward a plane of higher prices was well maintained.

Fractionally higher prices were paid for American & Foreign Power 5s, St. Paul 5s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Detroit Edison 4½s, Great Northern 4½s, New York Central 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s, Southern Railway 4s and Western Union 5s.

Loans down a little included American Telephone 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Consolidated Gas 5½s, International Telephone 5s, Northern Pacific 4s, Postal Telegraph 5s, and Union Pacific 4s.

U. S. governments were generally firm in light trading. Several of the Treasuries were up 1-32nd to 5-32nds of a point.

Foreign issues weer in supply here and there, but losses were narrow. French and Japanese obligations were firm. Italian government 7s and municipals sold ½ to ¾ lower.

Bryan Recall Filing Lacks Enough Names

rectory. Another was the name of one of the most prominent players on the Nebraska varsity football squad whose home is known to be out in the state.

Dozens of names have been written by the same person, Mr. Laughlin declared, without qualification. "I have insisted on a complete check of the lists," Mr. Laughlin declared.

Just how much of a reduction in the list a complete check of the names will cause, is problematical. Heretofore, however, on petitions of special election character, the average removal has been from 15 to 20 per cent. If the average holds in this case, the 300 additional names which J. B. Strackbein, one of those who filed the proposed recall, says he has and may file, will not be sufficient. "I still have 300 names," Strackbein said.

"Backfire Statements"

The backfire against the recall came in the form of statements. R. E. Campbell said: "When Mayor Bryan was elected it was with a view to making Lincoln the clean community it has been. As a result we have had a refreshing change since Mr. Bryan and the present council took office."

"This is purely a matter of principles, not men," according to S. A. Sanderson. "Are decent people going to say what the moral tone of Lincoln shall be, or will it be a disgruntled element?"

Desire for a clean government also was expressed by Dr. B. F. Bailey, president of the board of education. "I cannot understand this recall move," he said. "Mayor Bryan has given us a clean and businesslike administration. I trust and am sure the recall will fail."

E. B. Stephenson was "astonished." "A few people in the city's underworld are disgruntled, having had taken from them a few of the privileges which they enjoyed. Now they are trying to bring the mayor to his knees. Mayor Bryan was elected to make Lincoln a clean city, and he has lived up to that ideal; this is a fight for ideals, not men. To me the idea of a recall is shocking."

City Clerk Berg has ten days in which to file with the council his report on the sufficiency of the petitions. After the report is filed Mr. Strachbein will have ten days in which he may file added petitions.

Filing of the petitions was no surprise to Mayor Bryan. Almost from the day in early August when it was announced that petitions were being circulated, he has known who the principals in the move were. He also has known where and when the leaders were meeting, and who was in charge of the meetings.

And from the beginning he has charged that disgruntled persons who have been denied applications for beer licenses are behind the move.

E. M. Bair, defeated by Bryan in the runoff election last spring, refusing to comment on the petition, indicated a possibility that he may be in a mood to accept the nomination as candidate against his erstwhile opponent. "I positively refuse to discuss the matter," he said. "I want to think it over."

The sufficiency of the petitions as to number will be governed by the total vote on the proposal to change the form of government, in the spring election. The vote was 19,486. The petitions must carry qualified signers aggregating 30 per cent of that number. A special election will cost the city at least $5,000.

A statement accompanying the filing is signed by J. B. Strackbein and T. F. Donelson. If the petitions are adequate, an election would be held within 60 days and not less than 30 days.

A statement given to the newspapers when the petitions were filed, signed by Strackbein and Donelson, follows:

"The petitions reuesting the recall of Charles W. Bryan as mayor of Lincoln which we filed with the city clerk of Lincoln have been prepared in a careful manner. They represent, we believe, the true expression of the citizens of Lincoln with regard to the needs for a change in city administration as executed by our present mayor.

"A great deal of time has been spent in obtaining signatures to the petitions and at no time were the petitioners turned down by the citizens.

"Our only interest in the matter is good government and fair and impartial judgment in the administration of city affairs to the best interest of all its citizens.

"The statement setting forth the grounds for the recall of our present mayor as contained on each petition above the signatures speaks for itself. The statement reads:

"We the undersigned duly qualified electors of the city of Lincoln, Lancaster county, Nebraska, respectfully petition the city council that an election be held for the purpose of recalling and removing from office, Charles W. Bryan, mayor of the city of Lincoln Nebraska, for the reasons that the said Charles W. Bryan is, in attempting to discharge the duties and trusts of said office, manifestly partial, prepudicial and malevolent in exercising the prerogatives of office and has assumed dictatorial and arbitrary powers and authority in passing upon matters of public interest to the detriment of the citizens and property owners of the city of Lincoln; and because of his obvious incompatability of temperament to discharge the duties of said office to the best interests of the citizens and taxpayers of the city of Lincoln, Nebraska.

That the city clerk be directed to place the name Ernest M. Bair upon the ballot as a candidate for the office of mayor at said recall election to be held not less than 30 nor more than 60 days from the date of the approval of said petition as provided by Section 19, 421 of Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, 1929."

"Each individual petition contains blank for 72 signatures with a place for the acknowledgement by the petitioner who circulated the pettions executed before a notary public of this county.

"In filing these petitions we urge the city council to take action on our request as soon as possible in order that wholesome conditions in our city may be restored.

"We are positive this can be accomplished if Ernest M Bair is elected mayor of Lincoln. We therefore insist the city council call a special election and the city clerk place the name of Ernest M. Bair on the ballot as candidate for mayor of Lincoln to be voted on at this special election.

"Mr. Bair has proved himself worthy of the position of mayor and for that reason we have drafted him for that service. The city needs his outstanding talents and qualifications in this office. Mr. Bair has been a past member of the city council for eight years, during which time he has given Lincoln one of the most outstanding park systems in the United States and he has served in any and all departments and capacities in which he was placed on the city council as a tireless worker and with outstanding distinction and honor."

CORN-HOG PALN IS FACING TEST TODAY

added that if control machinery were not continued, the bottom might drop out of hog prices in 1937.

There was a disposition among some observers today to look upon the presidential statement of yesterday as a possible move to offset any critical demands for the elimination of red tape, for reduced costs and simplified procedure.

Permanent AAA Visioned.

AAA officials, studying the president's statement, said they saw a future control program in which payrolls would be reduced, management would be decentralized, and farmers given as nearly complete control as possible.

The officials also depicted a future AAA in which a permanent organization would plan commercial crop production in line with domestic and foreign consumption.

Present separate control contracts covering each crop would be replaced by one long term contract for each farm, covering the various crops.

Besides paying benefits for crop adjustment, the government would have a system of payments to insure soil conservation. Crop adjustment would be planned by regions, so that land best suited for a certain crop would be planted to that crop.

Voting In Nebraska.

Although information regarding the voting was lacking here, state AAA officials expressed the belief that the vote would be heavier than one year ago when some 65,000 farmers turned out for a similar referendum. A heavy vote is expected in the "panhandle" section of Nebraska, L. D. Willey, extension supervisor predicted.

In Lancaster county a vote of approximately 1,800 is anticipated. Balloting in the southwestern part of the state was expected to be very heavy. Alvah Hecht, agricultural agent in Buffalo county, reported a big vote from producers in that area was expected today. No indication as to how producers were voting, however, was received here. Preliminary reports on results are expected here late Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Anderson Appointed Board Comptroller

serving as secretary of the normal board and drawing $100 a month for his services. His pay as comptroller was fixed by the board at $250 a month, with not to exceed $100 a month additional for all operating and traveling expenses, including any office help he may employ.

In future, the secretary's dutes will probably be combined with those of the comptroller.

Andersen's resignation as a member of the board had not been presented at the time of his election as comptroller. President Rohn said he understood that the former would have to resign in order to take the appointive job. It will then be up to Governor Cochran to appoint his successor, subject to confirmation by the state senate.

Is A Merchant.

The normal board has never maintained an office regularly at the capitol in the past, but it is expected the comptroller will have one there from this time on and give his time to the duties of the position. Andersen is a retail merchant at Cozad. He will probably have to leave his private business in other hands.

Election of a normal board member to serve under it in the new paid job apparently does not infringe upon the state constitution. Although that instrument says no state officer mentioned in article 1, shall be eligible to any other state office, the normal board gets its legal status and authority from article 8, and hence its members are not subject to the same limitation.

Two Were Rejected.

Last June, the board chose E. W. Smith, then superintendent of schools at Red Cloud, for the comptrollership, but Governor Cochran declined to O. K. the choice on the ground that a man of business experience should be chosen.

Recently, at a meeting in Kearney, the board voted to put Emmet E. Stofiel of Lincoln in the position. Again the governor declined to confirm the selection, but gave no reason for doing so.

Andersen is a democrat and last year was an unsuccessful candidate in the fifth district primary for congress. He was elected comptroller by the votes of two democrats, one of them being himself, and two republicans.

Among other business transacted by the normal board Saturday, it decided to increase the amount of insurance on dormitory buildings at Peru, Kearney and Chadron normau schools, in order to get the benefit of a considerably lower rate. Five-year contracts will be signed, providing for payment of annual premiums at the reduced rate. These buildings are not yet state property, title to them being retained by financing corporations which built them until the bonds are paid off.

No insurance is carried on the Wayne dormitories, as one of them has paid out and now belongs to the state, while the other is a fireproof edifice. The state carries its own risk on all buildings it owns.

Albert Stern Found Strangled In Newark

increased his personal bodyguard from one man to three.

All were slain with him in a Newark tavern Wednesday night.

The police hunt was centered about current reports that Johnny Torrio, a Chicago hoodlum who reputedly taught Al Capone his trade, had moved in and taken control of the underworld, with the aid of a "Big Six" which includes Charles (Lucky) Luciano, head of a secret organization of Italians and Sicilians.

The suicide of Stern, a reputed narcotic addict, brought the total dead in this week's hoodlum carnage to six.

Deputy Chief Haller said detectives had information that Stern had been lurking near an automobile which was subsequently stolen and used by the gangster executioners who rubbed out Schultz and three henchmen Wednesday night.

Haller told a story of Stern which was a bewildering contrast to New York police's description of the 21-year-old youth as a ruthless paid killer.

The deputy chief said he had learned a man identified only as "Rosenthal' 'had found Stern begging nickles on Fifteenth avenue, Newark, last Sunday, and took him to the cheap boarding house whre his body was found about 9 a. m. today.

Stern was in bed, his head projecting over the head board. A necktie, knotted tightly about his throat was tied to an open gas jet. The second floor room was filled with gas when the landlady, Mrs. Flora Blacher, found the body.

Rosenthal told police he found Stern begging on Fifteenth avenue Sunday. The youth's condition was pitiable, he said. He was nervous, hollow-eyed and twitchy. His clothing was in bad condition.

When Rosenthal spoke to the youth, he told police, Stern said he was without food and shelter. All he had in his pocket was a pair of eyeglasses without lenses.

Rosenthal took him to the boarding house and bought him some milk. He said he had not seen him sence.

Two Arrested In Raid At Tasty-Pastry Shop But No Charges Filed

Two men were taken into custody and later released, after five officers raided the Tasty-Pastry shop at Thirteenth and M streets at about 12:30 a. m. Saturday.

Police said the place was nearly filled but that they got evidence on only two patrons. There were others however, who poured out their mixed drinks and hid bottles on the floor and under tables at the approach of the officers, police added. Thirteen containers were picked up from the floor and taken to headquarters. No formal charges have been filed.

At the eastern end of the high area Louisville and Knoxville report a pressure of 30.44 lower by .02 of an inch from yesterday. Winnemucca, Nevada reports the same pressure. The slight depression between the two centers is enough to cause rain from Colorado to Illinois, Oklahoma City showing the largest amount with 18 inch. Height of barometer at 7 a. m. 30.27.

Colonel Maher Calls Meeting To Urge Sen. Norris to Run Again

Friends of Senator G. W. Norris have been called by Col. John G. Maher of Lincoln to attend a meeting here next Tuesday afternoon "to impress upon Senator Norris the importance of his continuing in the senate," Colonel Maher said today.

Colonel Maher said he had written letters to numerous admirers of the veteran Nebraska senators asking them to attend the meeting at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Cornhusker hotel and that all friends of Norris, regardless of political affiliation, are welcome.

"I have called the meeting because of press dispatches stating the senator is not going to run again," Colonel Maher said. "That must not occur for it would be a great loss to Nebraska and the nation."

Governor Declines To Add New Omaha Topic To Call For Session

A dozen men from Omaha called on Governor Cochran, Saturday morning, and asked him to add to his call for the extra legislative session provision under which elements in that city which are fighting the street railway company might force a special election to vote on a franchise for the ooerations of motorbuses in competition with street cars.

The governor declined to amend the call, however, stating that he thought the legislature will have plenty of matters to occupy its time without taking on any more.

In the party were State Senator Crowley, Representative John Adams, officers of the striking street car men's organization, a man who is ready to go into the bus business, and others.

Bethany Audience Hears Supt. Lefler Discuss Bond Vote

Supt. M. C. Lefler, speaking before a large crowd of Bethany people Friday evening, at the community house, discussed the proposed $775,000 bond issue to supplement a $225,000 PWA grant for erection of new school buildings, and illustrated his talk with lantern slides. Conditions indicating need of repairs and replacement in the Lincoln school system were shown.

Citizens of Bethany along with those of Havelock and University Place will gain advantage if the building program is approved in the Nov. 5 bond issue vote, Superintendent Lefler said, for one of the principal structures would be a Northeast high school building for the three suburbs.

No child would have to walk over 20 blocks to the new high school, the school head pointed out. It would be located on a 22 acre plot between Adams street and Baldwin avenue, extending from Sixty-first to Sixty third.

Mrs. George Wentz and Dr. B. F. Bailey represented the board of education at the meeting. Mrs. Ben Workman presided.

Those who have viewed McLean's records said the estate includes about $2,000 in personal property.

MAHONEY STILL FIGHTING BERLIN GAMES

A. A. U. Chief Continues Denounce German Regime

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—American participation in the Olympic Games continued today to be the crux of acrid debate. Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the American Amateur Athletic Union, who recently declared that Dr. Theodor Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, was being used as a "screen" by the German government, attacked last night the principles of naziism in general and General Charles Sherrill in particular.

Talks As Individual.

"I am talking as an individual and not as president of the A. A. U.," he said in a radio talk, "but my heart is in this cause because I know it has the better of the moral issue involved. It is not a question of race or religion any more, or a question of athletics.

"It is a question of whether we shall lend help and endorsement and approval to the nazi government that knows not the rules of sport or fair play, but which in sport, as well as in all other activities and functions of life, resorts to force and oppression and persecution to accomplish its wicked ends."

General Sherill, who recently returned from Germany, broached the possibility of anti-semitic trouble here as a result of the opposition to American participation.

Branded as Cowardice.

He contended that if the 500,000 Americans in training for possible places on Olympic Teams suddenly became aware of efforts to thwart their desires, they might instigate anti-semitic trouble that would last for years. Referring to this, Mahoney said:

"No real friend of the Jews of this country would attempt to silence any self-respecting Jew by proclaiming that an American protest against conditions in Germany might create an anti-semitic movement here.

"Such a statement is cowardly and is made merely to intimidate the courageous, fearless, liberty-loving Jews living in our midst, and they will not believe for a moment that anybody who can make such a threat in such an insinuating and insidious manner could be really and honestly a friend of the Jews."

Gets Back at Sherill.

Mahoney quoted General Sherill as saying that the New York Athletic club, to which both belong, barred Jews from its membership.

"If that is so, it is wrong," Mahoney said. "I am informed that there are some Jews in that club.

"I know it to be a fact that in many clubs to which he (Sherill) belongs and in which he is most prominent, not only are Jews and negroes barred, but also the finest American citizens, noted for accomplishments in the various fields of endeavor, are ineligible merely because they do not represent the so-called first American families."

In Berlin, Dr. Lewald announced that Helene Mayer, outstanding German-Jewish fencer, had accepted an invitation to compete for Germany.

Miss Mayer Accepts.

The case of Miss Mayer had been cited often in the controversy, and Lewald regarded her acceptance as disposing of at least one point in the situation. Many had contended that Miss Mayer never had received an invitation.

Dr. Lewald charged Mahoney with "dragging politics into the Olympic arena," a contention which Mahoney also denied in his radio talk. Mahoney said he had no political ambitions.

Stella Walsh, Polish woman athletic star, and Jack Shea, Olympic ice skating champion, announced they were opposed to American participation.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee, who in a recent statement favored participation, was lauded in German newspapers.

All America Ratings

BY CHRISTY WALSH.

GENEROUS praise and convincing telegrams continue to tell the story of outstanding individual performance on widespread gridirons. Newspaper observers posted on the line of battle are sending back glowing accounts of great passing, fine blocking, furious tackling and the will-to-win.

The process of elimination is gaining momentum and citation in the weekly ratings is becoming more difficult to attain.

"Cards of Merit" have been awarded this week to the players listed below:

Columbia Beware!

RENNER, Michigan—Emulating the peerless passing of Friedman and Newman, his predecessors, Renner, rapidly rising as a forward-passing wizard, put on an aerial exhibition against Wisconsin which was Michigan's principal weapon in a not too easy victory. Columbia beware of Renner!

MULLIGAN, Catholic university—Vincent Flaherty, Washington Herald, fairly froths with enthusiasm comparing Mulligan to Oosterbaan and, as between the two, electing the former as the greatest end he's ever seen. Against Detroit, Mulligan apparently was hotter than a blowtorch and reached superb heights in every detail of defense and offense, including a one-handed catch of a 40-yard pass.

WILSON, Southern Methodist—Dick Freeman, Houston Chronicle, rates Wilson's performance against Rice, defending champions, as one of the most sensational ever witnessed in southwest. Wilson, who weighs only 150 returned punts 127 yards; intercepted three passes and scored only touchdown of the game.

MAUTTE, Fordham—He supplied the spark for an unexpected Fordham comeback against Vanderbilt, the pre-game favorite. Mautte put the ball in scoring position with a shifty 14-yard run, topped this with an 87-yard touchdown sprint from scrimmage, intercepted and batted down passes and played heads-up football to the finish.

MILLNER, Notre Dame—Rated as one of the best ends in Irish history, James M. Costin, South Bend News-Ttimes, says Millner's blocking of try-for-point after touchdown had tremendous effect in sustaining Notre Dame's morale, enabling teammates to tie score and eventually win game from a magnificent Pittsburgh team.

Hessberg Yale's Ace.

HESSBERG, Yale—Throughout a close, hard-fought game, Hessberg supplied the old dependable wallop that brought victory to Yale by a narrow margin. Hessberg did not always gain yardage, being shoved back by Navy more than once, but from whistle to whistle he was the most valuable man in the lineup of the team that won.

FAUST, St. Bonaventure—Superior to any runner at Syracuse, Cornell or Colgate, such is the extraordinary estimate of this star halfback from a small college —in the opinion of Bob Cordier, Buffalo News. Faust piled up 200 yards last Saturday, including one run of 84 yards, after shaking off seven of the opposition.

SMITH, Alabama—Stepping from the casualty list to the spotlight of a surprising victory, in which his blocking, punting, ball carrying and generalship played an all-important part, Smith, 200-pound triple-threat quarterback, earns an unqualified rating this week from Zipp Newman, Birmingham News.

BUIVID, Marquette—Rated for All-America consideration by Ronald McIntyre, Milwaukee Sentinel, Buivid staged a one-man show against St. Louis and pulled his teammates through undefeated.

HAINES, Washington—Racing 70 yards to a touchdown on the game's first play, Haines thereafter averaged nine yards on 12 attempts and sparked his team to victory over a powerful ancient rival. Royal Brougham, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, predicts Haines will run away from Stanford and Grayson.

Gophers Confess They Spell It Krzeszowski

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26—(AP)—Of all the lads who need one, Dominic Krezowski end on Minnesota's football squad, has no nickname.

Some call him "Dominic," just like that, and others voice the whole surname, but no Gopher has yet coined a short one that would stay put.

At that, the Gophers are saved more trouble. The real way of spelling the name is "Krzeszowski." A brother, Al, shortened the spelling when he played at Minnesota.

WIN 'PICKERS' IN SORRY FIX

Upsets So Frequent That Game Prophets In Distress.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—Pity the poor football selector on a day like this. In all sections of the country, framed against a background of jumbled upsets, teams of might meet foes of equal calibre.

Intersectionally, the speculative are wondering whether Lou Little's Lions, turned lamb against Pennsylvania last week, will come out of the slump against Michigan; whether Navy can rise up to halt the onward rush of Notre Dame, and whether an improved Manhattan team, which held Holy Cross even, will prove too much for North Carolina State, beaten for the first time by Georgia last week.

In the east, the Yale-Army melee gave the pickers plenty to ponder over, but the problem there was nothing compared to that of the south, where records apparently mean nothing.

Duke Drubbed Again.

Duke, advertised as the most powerful in the south in early season, went down again yesterday before Auburn, 7-0, after having tasted its first defeat the week previous from Georgia Tech.

Duke having joined North Carolina State in falling from the list of the unbeaten, the pigskin adherents of he old North state looked to the University of North Carolina to uphold the state's laurels. It was Georgia Tech that started Duke's downfall and it was Georgia Tech that the university faced.

Georgia, conqueror of N. C. State, tangles with the Alabama Rose Bowl champion, which has found a new lease on power, speed and deception. Pick that one if you can, or if not, predict the winner between Vanderbilt and Louisiana State.

In the midwest, the Iowa-Illinois game was considered an "even-steven" proposition, while the Nebraska-Oklahoma game, Chicago-Wisconsin, Minnesota-Northwestern and others may see anything happen.

Rice Tackles Texas.

In the southwest, Rice lost prestige by being beaten by Southern Methodist, but it still shapes up as a worthy opponent for Texas. Southern Methodist faces Hardin-Simmons, while Texas A. & M. encounters Baylor. Texas Christian and Centenary meet in another hard one to guess.

The University of California at Los Angeles, undefeated, encounters a powerful foe in Oregon, beaten only by California, which meets Southern California. Washington and Stanford clash in a game that looks like a toss-up.

In the Rocky mountains, Colorado meets Colorado State, Utah State plays Colorado Mines, and Utah takes on Denver U.

Catholic U. Unbeaten.

Catholic university maintained its unbeaten record last night by downing St. Mary's of Texas, 7-0, while St. Vincent beat Salem, 19-16, in another eastern game.

In the south, Millsaps beat Southwestern (La.), 19-3; Transylvania beat Morehead, 26-0, and Louisiana college shaded Loyola of the south, 7-6.

St. Louis university buried Arkansas State, 46-7, in the midwest while Drake downed Haskell, 21-0, Akron beat John Carroll, 7-6, and Western Reserve defeated Findlay, 27-7.

Arkansas Tech beat Henderson State Teachers, 14-0, in the southwest, while West Texas Teachers downed Texas Mines by the same score and Howard Payne beat McMurray, 9-7.

COAST'S BIG TEAMS FACING ACID TEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26—(INS)—Tht big teams of the Pacific Coast conference get the acid test today.

At Seattle, Jimmy Phelan's University of Washington gridders hope to avenge a 24-0 defeat last season by Tiny Thornhill's two-time Pacific coast champions, the Stanford Cardinals.

At Berkeley, the undefeated University of California's Golden Bears meet Howard Jones' University of Southern California Trojans. California was rated a 2½ to1 favorite in the betting.

At Los Angeles, the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, in a triple tie for conference honors with California and Washington, were 8 to 5 favorites to whip the University of Oregon's Webfeet.

Beavers Play Cougars.

At Portland, an aerial attack by the Washington State Cougars was planned against the Oregon State Beavers.

The remaining conference game at Moscow, Idaho, will see the babies of the coast's Bog Ten in action—Montana and Idaho.

In a non-conference game at San Francisco, Santa Clara's Broncos were heavy favorites to subdue University of Portland's undefeated eleven.

Tomorrow, St. Mary's college and University of San Francisco, long time rivals, will clash at Kezar stadium here.

Ken Cotton, California fullback, and Chuck Cotton, quarterback of the same team, are brothers. Also sons of Edgar "Tow" Cotton, Nebraska tackle and guard of 30 years ago.

WOLGAST MASTER OF ARIZONA BOXER

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26—(INS)—The old master of ringcraft, Midget Wolgast, former flyweight champion, last night took a clean decision over Pancho Leyvas, 19-year-old Yuma, Ariz., boxer.

Throughout the 10 rounds of the main event, Wolgast forced the issue but Leyvas was no slouch when pressed by a rain of right and left jabs from the former champion. Wolgast concentrated on a series of body jabs, causing the Mexican to double in pain on several occasions.

In the semi-windup, Mike Villareal, young Mexican boxer, took three of the six rounds to draw with Little Dempsey, Filipino fighter.

Sport Briefs

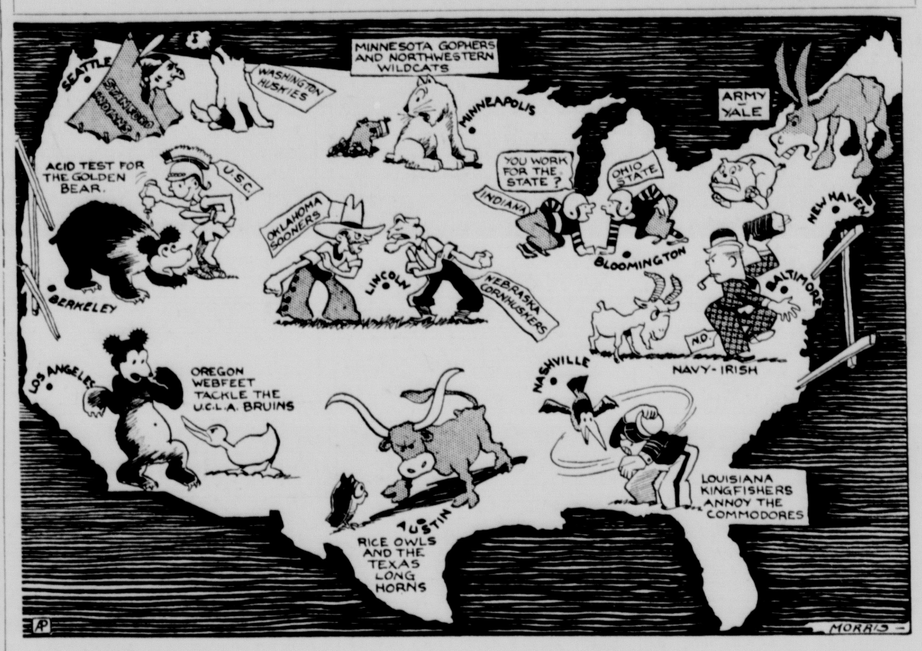

Western Maryland college has a pair of backs who not only pass southpaw style, but do all their kicking with their left feet. They are Leroy Campbell and Ken Adriance.

On Navy day, the Middies entertained the crowd with a carefully rehearsed football game of the 1890 vintage. But the regular game beat 'em to it, for Virginia, on its first play, successfully pulled the "old sleeper" trick on the Middies.

Sammy Donato of Penn State's football team is little but mighty. He weighs just 145 pounds, but he's the best blocking back on the squad.

The reason Abe Mickal, 1934 star of the Louisiana State backfield, is not a regular this year is found in the hospital records. He has been through three operations in the last few months.

TODAY'S PANORAMA IN THE PIGSKIN SPORT.

HURLS DEFY AT OHIO BUCKEYES

"Bo" McMillin Chimes In With Threat To Beat Schmidt's Team.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 26—(INS)—Coach Bo McMillin, who once led a little band of Praying Colonels from Centre college of Kentucky to Harvard stadium and greatly embarrassed the Harvards, ably sizes up the situation here today as he prepares to send his Indiana team against the "Scarlet Scourge" of Ohio State

"In experience, manpower and replacements," he said, "Ohio State is superior to our team. But I never yet have sent a team into a game that I didn't think we could win.

"We're not out to keep down the score. We're out to win; to score a big football upset."

Being the under-dog is no new experience to McMillin—first at Centre as a player, where he captained and quarterbacked the Praying Colonels to national recognition and admiration; as a coach at Centenary, where he whipped an unknown team into a nationally ranking club; at Geneva and Kansas State.

That Hoosier Tradition.

He will get some aid today, however. It is homecoming, for one thing. For another, there is the Hoosier tradition that Indiana always comes up with one great game a year. Last fall, Indiana came up to the last game of the season against Purdue. Indiana hadn't won a conference game. Purdue was undefeated. Indiana won, 17 to 6.

If that tradition is fulfilled today, it will be a national upset. For the Buckeyes are primed to win the Big Ten championship and have an eye to national recognition. A 19 to 6 victory over Kentucky, 85 to 7 over Drake, 28 to 7 over Northwestern, testify to the power of Francis Schmidt's football machine.

Ohio State has passing, running and plunging power, an impregnable line and a host of reserves almost as strong as the first eleven.

Nowhere except on the Hoosier campus is anything but an overwhelming victory for the Buckeyes expected. A crowd of 17,000 is expected to attend the game.

Packed Stadium For Sailors And 'Irish'

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26—INS)—Notre Dame's "Fighting Irish, Etc."—the "etc." comprising Peefferle, Pojman, Carideo, Wojcihovski and Kopczak—rode high on a wave of four straight victories into Baltimore stadium today, primed to avenge two consecutive setbacks by the Navy.

From Annapolis, meanwhile, a tight-lipped band of gridiron buckaroos, realizing that its hopes for a national title hinge on the outcome of the fray, marched resolutely behind the gaily-caparisoned corps of Midshipmen that will plead for a third straight triumph over the Irish, a feat heretofore accomplished only by Pitt and U. S. C.

All Seats Sold Out.

More than 60,000 fans began to fasten themselves on the precipitous sides of the stadium early this morning. The last seat was sold Thursday. Baltimore has gone "ga-ga" over this one.

Odds which were 2 to 1 on the Irish Tuesday had slumped to 7 to 5, apparently because the customers hereabouts believe the Navy came off its last week's engagement in better physical condition than the South Benders.

Gophers To Perform In Presence 60,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26—(INS) Approximately 60,000 spectators are expected to jam the stadium here today to see Minnesota continue its march towards Big Ten and national honors, with the Wildcats of Northwestern the sacrifice.

However, Northwestern, twice beaten, is not being led to the slaughter like a lamb. The Wildcats are fit and confident and determined.

Today's battle will be the first conference game of the season for Minnesota.

SPORT SLANTS by Pap

EVERYONE suspected that Major Ralph Sasse and his aids were accomplishing big things with the football team of Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss., but few dreamed that the former West Point coach was preparing any gridiron miracles.

It is now quite evident that the progress Major Sasse was making in his new surroundings was grossly underestimated. Not even the most optimistic follower of the Mississippians dared think of anything like a 20-to-7 triumph over the Crimson Tide of Alabama. Yet that's the exact margin by which his new charges humbled the current Rose Bowl champions.

For 20 years Mississippi State teams have dreamed of a triumph over Alabama, but until Major Sasse took over the reins the Crimson Tide dominated in the easiest sort of fashion. For years the willing and game Mississipians were pretty much of a door-mat in the Southeastern conference. Today they are going about pinching themselves to make sure they are not just dreaming.

TO MAJ. SASSE it is only the beginning. His big objective this season is the day when he will send his maroon-clad eleven out on the plains of West Point to meet the Cadets early in November. That is one game the major really wants to win.

It was last January when Major Sasse was at Fort Knox, Ky., busy with the mechanization of the cavalry unit that he was approached on the subject of taking over the job at Mississippi State. He had given up all thought of returning to active football coaching at the time and was devoting his time to military affairs. But when the call came he dropped everything and went a-running just like an old fire-horse when he hears a bell.

He couldn't resist the opportunity to reorganize the entire set-up at State and before he knew it arrangements were made to have him transferred there.

Back in coaching harness again Major Sasse drove his charges through six weeks of hard spring training and at the end of the period announced he was satisfied that the material had considerable promise.

HE RETAINED Capt. Ross McKechnie, whom he succeeded as head coach, as his backfield coach, and engaged Capt John Stokes, his line coach at West Point, to fill the same job at State.

He added Frank Carideo, all-American quarterback at Notre Dame in 1929 and 1930 and the last great field general of the late Knute Rochne, as coach of the kickers. The major was a great admirer of Carideo as a player, and as a kicker in particular. The former Notre Dame star was a master at placing long, low punts and dropping them out of bounds in "coffin corner." He has been doing a fine job of tutoring the Mississippi booters and has proved a valuable assistant in mapping out the team's strategy.

Things are certainly looking up at Mississippi State and under the guiding hand of the genial Major Sasse things ought to continue to improve until State becomes a power in the Southeastern conference and a figure in the national football picture.

SIX GAMES ON COLLEGE GRIDS

Broncs' Defeat of Doane Friday's Feature In State Circles.

Line play featured the scoring in the six Nebraska college football games Friday night.

In Lincoln, Nebraska Wesleyan remained among the unbeaten state college elevens by a 6-6 deadlock with Midland before a homecoming crowd of 1,000 persons.

Two touchdowns by George Wallander of York and one by Rex Lutz of Fairmont helped York college to defeat Dana, 25 to 0, at Blair. The other scores came on a pass caught by Tom Tompkins of Amistad, N. M., and a placekick by Cecil Smith of Van Nuys, Calif.

Concordia Downs Hebron.

Concordia Teachers college defeated Hebron junior college, 16 to 0, at a Hebron homecoming game. Concordia led at the half after scoring on a safety and Ebel skirted end for two touchdowns in the third quarter from within the 10-yard line to assure the Teachers a victory. Both placekicks by Rathe were good.

Coach Sed Hartman's Omaha municipal university gridders swamped the Peru Teachers, 31 to 0, at Omaha, virtually cinching the N. I. A. A. championship for the Cardinals. They have only one game left—with the Chadron Teachers, who have been defeated several times.

Leo Pearey made two of the Cardinal touchdowns, and Jack Nieman, Andy Anderson and Bill Nelson each made one. Norris Loder's placekick was good.

Hastings Defeats Doane.

Doane college put up a stiff fight against Hastings, but the Broncos emerged the victors, 14 to 7, at Hastings. Louis DePoyster of Doane took Givens' pass on his 10-yard line and ran for a touchdown during the first five minutes of the game.

J. Hopp scored twice for Hastings, once in the second quarter and again in the third period. Vance Logan kicked the extra points. A. Hopp, however, was lost to the Broncos for the remainder of the season as the result of a cracked shoulder.

Nebraska Central college eked out a 6 to 0 victory over a stubborn Luther college eleven from Wahoo in a game at Central City. The victors climaxed a 79 yard drive early in the fourth quarter when Don Lutes, 130 pound midget quarterback, plowed through the center of the Luther line for a touchdown.

MITTEN CARNIVAL ON BOOK NEXT WEEK

Harold Matthews, popular Lincoln bantamweight, will headline the boxing show to be presented by the Eagles' club next Wednesday night at the 4-H arena. Matthews, who has not been seen in ring togs around the Capital City area for several months, will meet Jack Presti, a 120-pounder from Seattle, Wash., in an eight-round bout.

Promoter Adam Krieger announced that there would be two six-round bouts, along with a four-rounder on the supporting program, and a pair of three-round amateur bouts will be booked to open the program.

Dreams Come True For Three Nebraska Boys

GERING, Neb., Oct. 26—(AP)—Each of three boys, born in the same block at Bayard, Neb., in 1917, dreamed that some day he would be "captain" of the high school football team. Today the dreams of all three have come true.

One of the trio, Mickey McDonad, is captain of the Gering high school team. Another, Wayne Garrison, is captain of the Bridgeport high school team. The third, Bradford Benton, is captain of the Bayard high school team. All the teams are in the Western Nebraska conference league.

Capt. McDonald's team has defeated Capt. Garrison's team. Capt. Garrison and Capt. Benton will oppose each other on Nov. 8. On Nov. 15, Capt. McDonald will face Capt. Benton. All three captains are seniors.

Wesleyan Battles to 6-6 Draw With Fremonters

The hopes of the Nebraska Wesleyan Plainsmen to repeat as N. C. A. C. champions on the gridiron this fall received a rough jolt Friday night on the Wesleyan field when Midland college of Fremont came up with a 6-6 tie in the first conference sortie for both teams. At the half, Midland was in front by 6-0.

Midland Scores First.

During the first half, Midland outplayed the Plainsmen from start to finish, and in addition to the touchdown was on the Wesleyan two-yard line, second down and goal to go, when Umpire Bob Russell frabbed the ball signifying the end of the half. Midland had rolled up 10 first downs to three for Wesleyan during that time.

The second half produced a complete reverse, Wesleyan scoring shortly after the resumption of play and driving to a first down on the Midland seven-yard line with six minutes left in the game. Two plunges made only one yard, however, and two passes were incomplete, and the game ended with Wesleyan playing for the tie deep in its own territory. First downs the second half favored Wesleyan, eight to two.

Midland scored when Nelson returned Hawkins' short punt 19 yards to the Wesleyan 21-yard line. Brandt heaved a pass to Smagacz for 15 yards and a first down six yards from promised land, and Brandt then smacked tackle for three yards. Gaw, a substitute fullback, rammed across the goal line by inches on the next down and Nelson's placekick was wide.

Plainsmen Even It Up.

Hawkins took the opening kickoff in the second half on his own 12-yard stripe and carted the leather back 28 yards, where a 15-yard penalty, assessed against Midland, gave Wesleyan the ball on the Warriors' 45-yard line. Ron Shuman skirted left end for 22 yards and then rounded the other side for 19 yards and a first down four yards from pay territory.

The second plunge found Shuman crossing the Midland goal to equal the score. The pass from center was high and Bailey was unable to set the ball down in time for Hawkins to take a full kick on the try for the extra point and it went into the line.

Ron Shuman, Hawkins and Wright did most of the work for Wesleyan and Smagacz, Holten and Brandt paced the visitors.

MEN OF KIPKE ENTER GOTHAM

Michigan Tangles With Columbia U. and East Fears Defeat.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(INS)—Michigan, which openly boasts the pass, punt and prayer technique, and Columbia, which probably wouldn't know the litany from the six-to-two-one defense, are to meet this afternoon in one of the major intersectional games of the football year with probably a turn-away crowd of 32,000 in the stands. Nobody knows where they are all coming from, or why. If Columbia had as much as a prayer last Saturday, it must have become confused during the ritual and begun reciting the third verse of Frankie and Johnny. Anyhow, it didn't appear to have even a petition.

East Prepared for Worst.

The assumption, therefore, is that a lot of Michigan men have become impressed with the regeneration of football at Ann Arbor with the defeats of Indiana and Wisconsin on successive Saturdays and are gathering in anticipation of eastern discomfiture. They probably won't be disappointed. In these affairs, the east often "discomfits" with great readiness.

As a matter of fact, Harry Kipke seems to have something this time, with a sound defense built around his 242-pound center, Tiny Wright, and a couple of big, fast ends, among other things. On the attack, he is reputed to have an outstanding passer and runner in Captain Bill Renner, ably abetted by Everhardus, young brother of the former star.

Barabas Dud This Year.

Against this array, Columbia is advancing timorously with an opening lineup that is to include last year's third and fourth team, a few of last year's freshmen and probably last year's star, Al Barabas, who scored that Rose Bowl touchdown and, I think, never fully recovered.

Anyhow, the young man was so bad in the preceding games this year that they were talking of leading him kindly but firmly to the bench. However, I understand they were just talking. When you have nothing much, it is better to be represented by a man who used to be able to run than one who never will.

Close Score Predicted.

At that, the game figures to be tight. Michigan is no scoring team and Columbia knows more now than it did a week ago. Its record to date shows that it dallied negligently with some corsage opposition and then finished 34 points behind Pennsylvania. If a team has anything at all, it always comes back with something from a defeat like that.

However, it looks very much as though Mr. Lou little, the man who has made melancholia a life work, really has something to be alarmed about this afternoon.

RING VERDICT TO FRISCO BATTLER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26—(INS)—Fred Aposoli, ex-national amateur middleweight champion, who aspires to the same throne in the professional field, decisively decisioned Babe Marino, rugged San Franciscan, n a 10-round bout here last night.

Apostoli won seven of the 10 rounds, but was unable to floor the Mission Italian.
